Board Of Trade Directors Suspend Trading For Day

DISPUTE IN COURT CAUSE FOR ACTION

Reorganization Petition Filed by Rosenbaum's Firm Creates Dilemma WILL OPEN THURSDAY

Exchange, Facing Liquidation of Grain Held by Company, Bans Trading

CHICAGO, April 24.—(UP)—The Chicago Board of Trade will not open today, the board of directors decided at noon.

The decision resulted from an unprecedented dilemma brought about by a court dispute over a reorganization petition filed by one of La Salle street's biggest grain houses.

The grain exchange was faced with the possible liquidation of large quantities of grain held by the Rosenbaum Grain Corporation if it permitted trading to begin in the grain pits.

It was definitely announced, however, that trading would be resumed tomorrow at the usual hour.

Meanwhile directors are conferring in an effort to arrange affairs of the Rosenbaum corporation so that the shock of its reorganization petition without suspension from the exchange would not prove disastrous to the market.

Ordinarily the firm would have been suspended but a federal court injunction prevented such a course by the board of trade. An attempt by the exchange to have the injunction vacated resulted only in a compromise agreement whereby the firm will carry on no further dealings.

The decision not to open the exchange came after the directors had conferred all morning trying to solve the unprecedented problem. They finally announced:

"Under an order of the federal court all trading in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade of the Rosenbaum corporation will be closed out and liquidated. The Board of Trade will open Thursday morning at 9:30 a. m."

The announcement, signed by Fred H. Clutton, secretary of the Board of Trade, was made from the gallery of the trading floor. Trading was carried on as usual in Minneapolis and wheat's about one cent from yesterday's close. Some of the bearishness evident on the Minneapolis market was attributed to rains and unrelated factors.

SAN BERNARDINO PAPER ENDS PUBLICATION

SAN BERNARDINO, April 24.—Suspension of publication of The Daily Orange Belt News, which has been published here for the past several years, occurred yesterday.

In a statement to his subscribers J. K. Tibbets, publisher, said the suspension was "due to economic pressure."

San Bernardino is capable of supporting only one newspaper organization in the opinion of experienced newspapermen, the announcement of suspension carried in the San Bernardino Sun said, continuing with the statement that the same situation has developed in Fresno, Santa Barbara, Riverside, Pasadena and other California cities of comparable size.

AIRPORT PROGRAM FAVORED BY ROPER

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(UP)—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper today announced he will seek a share of the $4,880,000 work-relief fund for a nationwide airport development program.

Roper was one of the first to disclose his intention to put in a bid for part of the huge fund.

Aside from the airport program, the commerce department will seek $10,000,000 to employ jobless "white-collar" workers in a survey to collect data looking toward elimination of waste in distribution. Roper also is prepared to use the machinery of his department in conducting an unemployment census.

RETIRE

William Wallace Atterbury, who today announced his retirement as president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

COL. LINDBERGH MAY FLY FIRST ORIENT PLANE

May Be at Controls When Regular Service Started Across Pacific

ALAMEDA, Cal., April 24.—(UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh probably will be in active command of the first flight of the Pan-American Clipper plane when regular air service between California and China is inaugurated, it was understood today.

Company officials, delighted with the four-motored ship's performance during its spectacular round trip flight between Alameda and Honolulu, predicted the trans-Pacific service would begin late in the summer.

Although they did not reveal details of their plans, it was generally understood that Col. Lindbergh would be at the controls when the first ship takes off with passengers and mail for the Orient.

Starts Service

Lindbergh, technical advisor of Pan-American, has inaugurated the opening of almost all the company's routes, particularly those crossing the Caribbean to Central and South America.

Having flown the Pacific with Mrs. Lindbergh, he has taken an active part in planning the construction of the giant ships that will maintain regular schedules to China and in laying out the trans-oceanic course from island to island.

There were unofficial reports that the giant plane might be launched on another trans-Pacific exploratory flight within a week. Its destination this time would be the Midway islands, 1150 miles northwest of Honolulu and the second station of a chain stretching like stepping stones between California and China.

Trail Blazer

Capt. Edwin Musick and his five companions, Pan-American's No. 1 crew, were ready for the new expedition, the next step of their job of blazing the trail for commercial aviation service across the western ocean.

Resting today after a 21-hour battle with head winds on their way back from Honolulu yesterday, the flyers regarded their venture over 2400 miles of water, going and returning, as routine work on which they "enjoyed" themselves a lot. Their flying time for the round trip was 39 1-2 hours.

Juan Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways, said:

"The results fully justify early inauguration of through service to the far east."

A message of congratulation was handed Musick as he and his companions came ashore at Alameda airport at 2:58 p. m. P.S.T. yesterday, 20 hours and 59 minutes after their departure from Pearl Harbor, Honolulu.

LATE FLASHES

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(UP)—The senate late today confirmed the nomination of Marriner S. Eccles, Liberal Union banker, as governor of the federal reserve board.

WARREN, O., April 24.—(UP)—Three armed bandits kidnapped a mail truck driver here today and escaped with mail believed to contain more than $75,000 in cash.

ASSEMBLY TO CONSIDER OIL AND GAS PIPELINE TAX BILL

OIL HEARINGS NEXT SATURDAY TO BE PUBLIC

Assembly Committee Will Conduct Investigation at City Hall

SACRAMENTO, April 24.—The assembly committee, headed by William Wesley Jones, investigating the Huntington Beach tidelands oil problem, declared today that public hearings will be held in the city hall at Huntington Beach Saturday morning.

Prior to his announcement Jones announced that he is in favor of state drilling on its own tidelands.

Jones' advocacy of state drilling and production makes the tidelands oil problem a four-sided issue, with the menace of direct tidelands drilling and destruction of Southern California's priceless beaches always present and to be feared. Here are the four angles to the controversy:

1. Whiptock or slant drilling from littoral lands, as proposed in the bill introduced by Assemblyman Thomas J. Cunningham of Los Angeles. It would give advantage to Standard Oil, which controls 80 acres, the "barley field" along the beach northwest of Twenty-third street, Huntington Beach.

2. Whiptock drilling on permits and leases to be given in competitive bidding. This is provided for in amendments to the Cunningham bill, which were written by the Independent Petroleum Association of California. The amendments would permit independents to slant-drill underneath Standard Oil land if the offered the state more than the major company's bid.

3. Leases for direct, vertical drilling from sites out in the submerged areas from "islands" or from piers.

4. State drilling and production, taking all the profits to increase its revenues, instead of only royalties of about 12 per cent.

FIVE LOSE LIVES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

APPOMATTOX, Va., April 24.—(UP)—Five persons were killed today in a crash involving three automobiles at Spout Springs, near here.

W. D. Anderson, 45, of Vera, Va., a rural mail carrier, died shortly after being removed from the wreckage.

Four of the victims were trapped in the wreckage and burned. Three of them were identified as A. L. Maddox, Miss Robbie Maddox and Miss Fannie Rose Chappel, of Big Island, Va.

The fifth victim was an unidentified woman.

Witnesses said the machine, driven by Fess, attempted to pass the car as another approached over a hill. Fess was unable to pass, or to drop back, in time to avoid a collision. All three machines piled up on the highway. Fess was the only survivor.

PENNSYLVANIA R. R. PRESIDENT RETIRES

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—(UP)—William Wallace Atterbury announced his retirement today as president of the Pennsylvania railroad. Atterbury, 69, has been head of the system since October 1, 1925.

Martin W. Clement, vice president of the company who has been acting president since Atterbury was taken ill more than a year ago, was elected to the presidency of the road.

Atterbury would have retired automatically on reaching the age of 70 next year. Only yesterday he was re-elected to the board of directors, a position he will continue to hold.

Sign Russian French Pact This Weekend

PARIS, April 24.—(UP)—A Russian-French military alliance is likely to be signed this week end, the foreign office said today, confirming reports that negotiations were again proceeding well.

Foreign Minister Pierre Laval is likely to leave for Moscow May 6, the day after the municipal elections in which he is standing for re-election as mayor of the suburb of Aubervilliers.

EXTENSION OF NRA ATTACKED BY PUBLISHERS

Code Committee of A. N. P. A. Also Reports Against Wagner Labor Bill

NEW YORK, April 24.—(UP)—The proposal now before congress to continue the national industrial recovery act after its expiration date, June 16, 1935, is "a direct and deliberate effort to impose federal regulation upon all business," the newspaper code committee reported today to the American Newspaper Publishers association.

The annual report of the committee, submitted by Chairman Howard Davis, charged the proposed NRA bill and the Wagner labor bill both seek "to evade the fourth amendment to the constitution of the United States which prohibits fishing expeditions into one's private affairs."

The report charged that both measures would place all labor relations under the supervision and control of politically appointed agencies of the government; that both would subject employers to the decisions of these agencies; that neither measure places any other obligation on employees or employee organizations to comply with such decisions.

"Acceptance by publishers of this measure in its present form would place regulatory control over the press in the hands of the government," the report added.

"In your committee's opinion, the pending measure offers no possibility for such a vehicle of operation (as the present code) in the future. Should this bill be enacted as it now stands, your committee cannot recommend further voluntary assent to any code. And it would have to recommend resistance by publishers to any effort to impose a code on daily newspaper publishers."

Condemnation by influence of Senator Huey Long's alleged attempt to throttle the Louisiana press antagonistic to his government was sought in one of three resolutions presented by the committee on freedom of the press.

FIRE DESTROYS PLAZA HALL IN DUBLIN TODAY

Drum From Which Sweepstake Tickets Are Drawn Is Lost in Blaze

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)

DUBLIN, April 24.—(UP)—Dublin's great plaza hall, scene of the Irish hospitals sweepstakes, was destroyed by fire today. With the interior of the building went the great drum from which sweepstake tickets were drawn.

It was reported that the fire was started by incendiaries. A few hours after the fire started this morning and the firemen in Greater Dublin who could be spared had fought vainly to save the big hall only its four walls were standing.

The giant drum, designed for the sweepstakes, the only one of its kind in the world, was left a twisted mass of metal.

Officials thought at first there were some thousands of counterfoils in the building, in steel boxes.

But Joseph McGrath, director of the sweep, announced after the fire that none of the foils was burned. All had been taken to the fireproof room in which foils are stored, in the sweep headquarters in Earlsfort Terrace.

It was expected that the next draw—on June 3, for the Epsom Derby to be run at Epsom Downs, England, June 5, and in which tens of thousands of Americans have tickets—would be held in the Mansion House, official home of the Lord Mayor. The first two sweep draws were held there, until the growth in popularity made the draws a world affair.

The loss of the drum was a serious matter. It is a difficult thing to provide a fair, secret draw for the millions of tickets in each

MAE WEST 'FED UP' ON LATEST RUMORS

HOLLYWOOD, April 24.—Mae West, the swarthy lady of the screen, today called for a showdown to settle the somewhat confusing question of her spinsterhood.

Mae's patience became a little worn when she was interrupted while saying "No" to reports of her marriage to one Frank Wallace and asked to explain, if she could, a report that a Mae West married one R. A. Burneister in Fort Worth, Tex., in 1924.

"It's a lousy publicity gag, that's what it is," said Mae West, "and I'm not getting anything out of it. If it goes any further I'll call for a real showdown."

"First there's a guy named Wallace, and then another guy named Wallace and now, what's his name? Burneister? That sort of line this year."

"Who knows," said Mae, "maybe I was the original Dionne quintuplets."

AAA Amendments Given Approval

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(UP)—The house agriculture committee today swung behind the administration and reported favorably for the second time proposed amendments to the agricultural adjustment act.

It was the second time the committee had reported the bill, having withdrawn the first report as a result of a controversy over granting licensing powers to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

In the new form, Chairman Marvin Jones, D. Texas, said, the bill contains virtually all provisions sought by agriculture department officials.

As amended, the bill now would exempt all retailers from licensing provisions, who are not parties to agreements by 50 per cent of the dealers in each commodity, Jones said.

Utt Avocado Measure Is Voted Down

Bill Would Make Theft of 100 Pounds of Fruit Crime of Felony

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 24.—(UP)—Members of the assembly swung into discussion of small loans today as they began consideration of measures designed to prevent assessment of exorbitant interest and other reported irregularities among personal property loan brokers.

This subject was undertaken after more than an hour of swift movement through routine measures which included only two outstanding developments.

Assemblyman James R. Utt, Tustin, assured lower house consideration of bills to tax oil and gas pipelines when he waived his previously announced decision to ask a reconsideration of the vote called out of committee.

The oil and gas pipeline tax measures, according to their sponsors, would raise $40,000,000 biennially or force oil companies operating pipelines to become common carriers, under jurisdiction of the state railroad commission. The alternate development, seen as a method of escaping the tax, would make it possible for independent oil companies to use the pipeline facilities at a rate which would be fixed by the commission.

The assembly devoted a short time to arguments before killing Utt's bill which would have made theft of 100 pounds or more of avocados a felony.

While Speaker Edward Craig continued to drive the lower house on a swift march through non-controversial subjects, the senate devoted more than an hour to discussing the subject. "How can we save some time and accomplish more work?" No definite program resulted from the debate in which nearly every member participated, but the senate decided to continue its rules permitting only visitors with invitation cards on the floor of the chamber.

LIVING COST STILL BELOW 1926 LEVEL

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(UP)—It won't help pay the bills, but it does give some comfort to know that despite recent steady increases, the cost of living still is some 29 per cent below the level of 1926.

To put it another way, if the period of say 1923-27 is to be regarded as the desired "normal," there is likely to be a further increase of about 29 per cent in living costs before that normalcy is achieved.

The National Industrial conference board's index of living costs now stands at 82.4. In this index, the 1923 average is taken at 100. The index hung close to that figure for six years after 1923, rising to 103.8 in 1925 and 1926. It slipped to 100 in 1929, and hit a depression low of 71.5 in April, 1933, before the new rise began.

NATION'S BUSINESS SHOWING INCREASES

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(UP)—Easter shopping brought widespread increases in retail trade last week, Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper reported today.

Along with the active retail trade, Roper said that continued gains were registered in automobile sales. "Business activities generally throughout the country failed to show progress," he added.

In comparison with the corresponding week last year, however, Roper continued, "The surveys are generally encouraging. While the gains recorded in retail business were noteworthy, merchants were inclined to express disappointment that the volume did not reach larger proportions. Chicago revealed a continuation of the mail order business in good volume."

SEN. HUEY LONG ENTERS FIGHT ON TENANT AID

Charges Bill Scheme Permitting Landowners to Unload Poor Land

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(UP)—The $1,000,000,000 farm tenant-aid bill, mangled by amendments and attacks from both Democrats and Republicans, was sent back to the senate agriculture committee today for general revision.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(UP)—Sen. Huey P. Long, D. La., today projected himself into the senate fight over the Bankhead tenant-aid bill.

"What I'm going to do," he charged, "is to tell to the government and those who stand in and know how to manipulate things will take the poor colored men and the poor white man and sell him a part of their farm."

"They'll call in poor old colored Mose," Long said, "and the poor white man Jim Smith and sell 'em a 60-year mortgage and get the money and that'll be all you'll hear about that."

"There's no such thing as making a living on the farm. What's the use of putting more 'em on the farm when those already there can't make a living."

Long said he had three farms in 15 years had cost him $1300 in taxes.

"And I can't sell all three for $500 and get the money," he said.

Another farming experiment was even more disastrous, he said, when in his youth he bought a yearling steer, a heifer and a calf. "The man persuaded me also to fence my 65 acres and I bought wire for the fence and barbed wire for the top," he related.

"The man drove off with my yearling, my heifer and my calf, and with my fencing wire and he sold 'em and kept the money. I haven't seen them or him since."

NAVY OFFICER ENDS LIFE IN STATEROOM

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 24.—(UP)—Naval officials today were investigating the apparent suicide of Lieut. (JG) Frank D. Owens, 32, whose body was found in a stateroom aboard the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Langley with a bullet wound through the heart.

Owens was flag lieutenant of Vice Admiral H. V. Butler, battle force aircraft commander, and formerly served as naval aide to President Roosevelt.

Fellow officers said they found a note near the body asking that a brother, Ensign James E. Owens of the U. S. S. Concord, be notified. The officer was a native of Coronado and is survived by a widow, Mrs. Barbara Davis Owens of Coronado.

EIGHT POINT PROGRAM IS MADE PUBLIC

Three New Agencies to Be Created to Carry Out Plans for Work Relief

FERA TO TAPER OFF

Grade Crossing Elimination and Highway Construction Projected

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(UP)—President Roosevelt turned school teacher today at his press conference, solemnly shook his finger at the "class" and laid down an eight-point program for work-relief.

The president emphasized that existing agencies would carry the load.

Then he outlined the eight-point program to spend almost $5,000,000,000 which included everything from boom-dogging to bridge building.

- The program:
1. Highway construction, grade crossing elimination.
  2. Rural rehabilitation and relief in stricken agricultural areas with all its ramifications.
  3. Rural electrification.
  4. Housing, low-cost in urban and rural areas.
  5. Assistance to white collar workers.
  6. CCC work.
  7. Loans to political subdivisions.
  8. Soil erosion, reforestation and miscellaneous projects.

Tugwell in Charge

Undersecretary of Agriculture Rexford G. Tugwell, original brain trust, will head the rural rehabilitation work as previously reported.

The president said that three new agencies would be created as follows:

1. A division to carry out grade crossing eliminations.
2. One dealing with rural re-settlement and the coordination of all agencies now working on rural rehabilitation. Tugwell will be in charge.
3. A new division in charge of the program of rural electrification.

The president promised that during the week he would reveal other steps required in the organization. He said the federal emergency relief administration gradually would taper off, although it would continue to function after a fashion in caring for those employables who through force of circumstance in their communities could not come under the works-relief program.

Hopkins Question

Some one asked whether that meant Administrator Harry L. Hopkins would in time play a relatively minor role. The president suggested that his questioner wait until he reads tomorrow's developments.

When he was asked what part he would play, he laughed off the question, observing that the best answer would be to read the constitution and not fish stories. The

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, April 24. (To the Editor of The Register.) Here is the latest racket if you are so rich you don't know what to do with your money. They are putting it in innuities in England, they feel it's safer there. Then they wonder how it is that England recovers, it recovers because you couldn't in a hundred years get an Englishman to do what these folks are doing. England will bet you on England to their last penny. In England they invest most of their money in income tax, read what their rate is.

With this money invested over there it's not hard to see where all the influence comes from to get us to keep joining something over there.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

sweep. The drum was specially devised to give every one a fair chance.

An early insufficient pressure of water was in some measure blamed for the building's destruction.

Three hundred girls employed at the sweep offices were in the crowd behind the police lines, weeping in fear they would lose their jobs.

Toward the last, firemen narrowly escaped death by leaping from a window ledge of the hall onto a neighboring roof. As the last man jumped, window and wall collapsed.

Firemen had great difficulty in preventing the flames from spreading to other buildings, particularly the important newspaper, Irish Independent.

"The fire will no way affect the forthcoming derby draw," McGrath said. "It will be held as planned on June 3, and will take place in the mansion house, where the first two sweeps were drawn."

He reiterated that all derby counterfoils were safe in a fireproof room at Earlsfort Terrace headquarters and said the work on the derby sweep would proceed normally tomorrow.

Better Times Here; $100 Bill In Plate

There are thrills, and then there are thrills.

But the thrill of a lifetime for a church pastor is to see a $100 bill in the collection plate.

Such a big moment was enjoyed by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of First Presbyterian church of Santa Ana.

"I've been a minister for 22 years and I never heard of such a thing before," said McFarland today. "We often get $1 and $5 bills in the collection plate, and large checks in payment of pledges, but never in my experience have I seen such a large bill in the collection."

McFarland could not recall when he had ever had a $100 bill in his hands before, and he avers that "good times are here again."

The century contribution was part of an aggregate collection of $800 received by the church on Sunday, setting an all-time record.

and passed unanimously by the more than 500 delegates.

The resolution, presented by Chairman Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, read:

Resolution Text

"Resolved: That the American Newspaper Publishers Association in convention assembled, express its thanks to the publishers of Louisiana for their resolute and successful opposition to the insidious and deliberate attack on the democratic form of Louisiana government as guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, which attack sought, under the guise of a general tax, to throttle and destroy those newspapers that dared to criticize the acts of the party in control of the legislative branch of the state government."

The second resolution presented the commendation of the committee for the "courageous, unselfish and patriotic defense of the liberty of a free press exhibited by the publishers of South Dakota in their defense of their right to comment upon the public service of the people's courts."

The third directed the association's thanks to the code committee for its negotiation of the code and for the "courage with which they preserved therein the constitutional provision for the freedom of the press."

A resolution presented by James Stahman of the Nashville, Tenn., Banner providing in effect for the continuance of a committee to give consideration to mutual newspaper problems in event the NRA is continued by congressional action, was also unanimously adopted.

Local Briefs

Commander J. F. Daniels, retired U. S. navy officer of many years experience, will be the speaker at the Santa Ana Lions club meeting tomorrow noon at James cafe. It was announced today. His talk is expected to be of great interest. A. G. Green is program chairman for the day.

EXTRA SCHOOL HOLIDAY FOR BIG EXPOSITION

Santa Ana schools will be dismissed on May 31, to permit students to attend the San Diego exposition, which opens May 29, it was voted by the school board last night, when it was announced that May 31 has been designated as Orange county day at the fair.

Special rates for the students will be offered by the Santa Fe railroad, it was announced at the meeting.

City Superintendent Frank A. Henderson who opposed an outside suggestion that convey 40 students each to the fair, withdrew his opposition when informed that such a plan was not being considered.

"The teachers would rather teach an entire semester than take that one day's assignment," said Henderson.

Henderson told the board that school attendance probably would be poor on May 31 if the schools were kept in session, so that the district would be ahead financially if the schools were dismissed for a holiday, as there would then be no loss of state money allotted to the local schools on a basis of average daily attendance.

May 31 will be a Friday, following the Memorial day holiday. Declaring that date also a holiday will give the students a vacation of four days—Wednesday to Monday—was pointed out.

Dr. Baker's motion to declare May 31 a holiday "for the purpose of permitting attendance at the fair on Orange County Day," was passed.

constitution, he countered, said that he was the head of the executive branch of the government.

In the vast number of projects under consideration, plans for many of which already have been approved and are awaiting the go-ahead signal, are besides those already listed, express highways, farm-to-market roads, parkways, causeways, sidewalks and city streets.

As to the category in which the white collar workers will fall, a few of the projects listed for them include, art, charts, graphs, plain and fancy boom-doggling, student aid, literacy classes mapping, nursing and nursing school orchestras.

Other Tasks

Other tasks for the white collar workers will include record-keeping, surveys of population problems and general census taking.

It also is planned to provide for re-settlement of families and groups to lands where they will be able to make both ends meet on the plan of the Alaska migration.

Other items falling under his particular program include subsistence homesteads and the relief of rural industrial communities.

Although this rural re-settlement division will be in the department of agriculture, Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that it was "Tugwell's baby" and that he would be responsible for carrying out the projects.

The president pointed out that the permanent government payroll was not going up. He argued that it was not quite fair to say that everyone of the men who will be drawing funds from the $4,000,000,000 was a government employee.

He added, however, that there must be some federal supervision over the projects.

Mr. Roosevelt said that no decision had yet been reached as to who would head the grade crossing elimination division or the division that will have charge of rural electrification. The latter, he observed, was temporary—not like the TVA.

Expanding the FERA angle, he told how 100,000 women now are on work-relief, making mattresses, sheets and other equipment for the destitute, probably would be continued under that agency until the women receive other employment.

Slum clearance stays where it is, he said, under the public works administration, and reiterated that projects for the big program would be lined up by areas.

HUNGARIAN ACTRESS ACQUITTED AT TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—(UP)—Sari Fedac, Hungarian actress, who was charged with perjury as a result of her efforts to help an actress-friend in a $250,000 breach of promise suit, today had been acquitted by a jury.

The jury took three hours to decide that Miss Fedac did not swear to false testimony in a deposition she made on behalf of her friend, Vilma Aknay, in the latter's breach of promise action against Ernst Vajda, writer. Miss Aknay also faces trial on perjury charges.

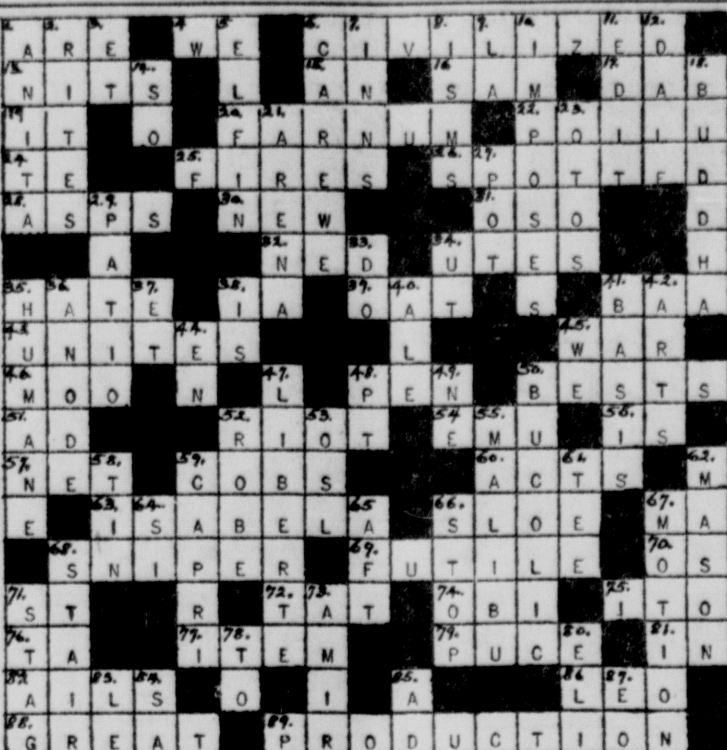

The two actresses were indicted on perjury charges after Miss Aknay dropped the suit, without explanation.

The perjury complaint against the actresses specifically charged them with "bringing a false civil action" against Vajda.

ANSWER TO PRIZE PUZZLE

Mrs. Olive Willard, 1109 North Baker street, last night was announced as the winner of the cross-word puzzle contest in which The Register awarded a $5 prize.

Mrs. Willard was one of 21 who had the correct answer, but in view of the fact that hers was the first correct answer to reach The Register she was declared the winner at the showing of "Are We Civilized?" at the Frances Willard Junior High school.

DICKINSON RITES SET FOR THURSDAY

Peter H. Dickinson, 84, former resident of this city, died at Victorville Monday. He was learned here today. Born in Perryville, Mo., he had lived in California for 15 years.

For 50 years, prior to coming to Santa Ana, he had lived at La Grande, Oregon, where he was a member of the First Baptist church. He was a member of the La Grande Lodge No. 16 of the Odd Fellows, for the past 47 years. He came to Santa Ana in 1920, and lived here until three years ago when he went to Victorville.

His wife passed away in Santa Ana in 1922 at the family home on West Fifth street. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Jennie M. Richardson, of Balboa and Victorville, and a grandson, Karl Smith, of Santa Ana.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Three people were receiving treatment today for injuries received in traffic accidents yesterday afternoon and early today.

E. P. Allen of 1907 Spurgeon street was being treated at the Santa Ana Valley hospital for injuries received yesterday afternoon in an accident at Third and Garney streets, when his car was in collision with a car driven by Walter Radlock of Route 2, North Main street, Orange.

Vern Clifford Eastin of 730 East Kingsley street, Pomona, was brought to the Santa Ana Valley hospital at 1:10 a. m. today after his truck and trailer had hit a tree and gone into the ditch. The wreck occurred on 101 highway 11 miles south of Irvine. Eastin was picked up unconscious by Russell Hensley of 919 Palm View, Los Angeles, and brought to the hospital here.

Alda Marie English of 1320 King street, Santa Ana, was being treated for bruises and an injured foot received at 8:15 last night when she was struck by a car driven by Cary Watson of Orange. The accident happened at Chapman avenue and the Plaza, in Orange.

REFUND OF TAXES SOUGHT IN SUIT

Suit to recover $164.75 in personal property taxes paid March 11, was filed against the County of Orange, J. C. Lamb, tax collector, and James Sleeper, tax assessor, today by Sam Block and Max Rouse of Newport Beach.

The complaint, filed in local justice court, alleges that the plaintiffs became owners of the property in question, including hotel, restaurant and drug store furniture, fixtures and equipment on March 5, and that taxes of $164.75 were assessed and levied against it on March 4.

Subsequently, the property was seized and attached for payment of taxes, and on March 11 the amount was paid under protest to secure release of the property.

The complaint, filed by Attorney Carl J. Ziegler of Los Angeles, recites that demand for repayment of the money has been made to the board of supervisors but was rejected. Return of the amount, together with 7 per cent interest from March 11, is asked.

Edna Wilson, Elizabeth Sturtevant, Naomi Barnes, DeEtin Finn, Alice Compton, Thomas Kistinger, Miles Norton, Ruth Warner, Janet Diehl, Faria Nell Clayton, Ann Donahue, Jean McAuley, Frances Was, and Harold Christensen. Accompanying the students were H. A. Scott, geology instructor, Mrs. Scott, Miss Hazel Nell Bemus, Mrs. G. D. Grist and Jack Grist.

Stewart J. Brooks Dies At His Home

Stewart James Brooks, 51, of 815 French street, died at his home yesterday following an extended illness. Born in Oneta, New York, he had lived in this city for nine years. He was a steam shovel operator. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Jessie E. Brooks. Funeral services will be held at a time to be announced later by the Harrell and Brown funeral home.

ATTORNEY TO BE BREAKFAST SPEAKER

Franklin West, Santa Ana attorney, will be the speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Orange County Breakfast club tomorrow morning in the Main cafeteria, it was announced today by Harold Mathews, program chairman.

Dr. Ralph Murane will officiate as program chairman of the day and will introduce the speaker, who will discuss the subject, "Spice of the Practice."

Entertainment scheduled for the meeting includes a piano solo by Verne Harrison and a humorous reading by Thomas Pickerrill.

Police News

Theft of a fender guide, reflectors and radiator cap and ornament from his car, parked on North Sycamore between Third and Fourth between 8 and 12 o'clock last night, was reported to the police station by Dean Shephard of 310 East Truslow, Fullerton.

BOARD DELAYS DECISION ON FUND FOR FAIR

No definite decision as to whether the board of supervisors will appropriate money for use in an official Orange county display at the California Pacific International Exposition in San Diego was reached by the board of supervisors in a conference yesterday afternoon.

Unfavorable attitudes of Supervisors John Mitchell and N. E. West were reported to have resulted in delay on a decision. Both Supervisors W. C. Jerome and LeRoy Lyon expressed themselves as being favorable to making an appropriation from county funds for the exhibit.

Supervisor Willard Smith, it was reported, takes the stand that inasmuch as the supervisorial districts represented by West and Mitchell stand to benefit more than any other districts by the large amount of travel through Orange county during the Exposition, these supervisors should come out in favor of the plan before Smith will approve the appropriation.

A delegation representing chambers of commerce and newspapers of Orange county called on the supervisors yesterday to urge them to appropriate $6000 for a separate Orange county exhibit or $3500 for a joint exhibit of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

Cookson Funeral Set For Thursday

Acquaintance Of Famous Persons Speaks at Jaycee

Stating that he had personally known Charles Darwin, Disraeli, Thomas Carlyle, Algernon Swinburne, Alfred, Lord Tennyson, Florence Nightingale and Andrew Carnegie; Julian B. Arnold, English lecturer and explorer, spoke before Santa Ana Junior college students in an assembly today at 11 a. m. in the First Baptist church.

Telling of famous people he had met, Arnold gave sketches of various individuals prominent in history that he knew as a boy and a young man. His father was for 40 years editor of the London Gazette and an entertained world-wide celebrities in his London home.

Arnold entered Marlborough college at the age of 10, and graduated from the University of Oxford at 16. He is an Egyptologist, lecturer, poet, author of "Palms and Temples" and "The School of Sympathy." He resides in Hollywood, and spends his time lecturing in colleges and high schools.

In addition to his assembly talk at Santa Ana Jaycee, he made four class talks.

BUSINESS BUILDING PERMIT IS ISSUED

Santa Ana's building revival was given another substantial boost yesterday with issuance of a building permit to Agnes M. Cunningham of 502 South Main street for construction of a two-story brick, combination business and residence building, to cost $4800. J. P. Williams of 1415 West Second street is the contractor.

Modernization permits issued recently by S. I. Preble, city building inspector, included the following:

W. M. Hamilton, poultry house, at Del Rio, Tex., will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Ivy-Overholzer chapel, Seventeenth and Flower street in Los Angeles. Cremation will follow the services and the ashes will be scattered over the Modjeska ranch where Mrs. Cookson had lived for many years.

The public is invited to participate in the evening's entertainment, which will be concluded with refreshments.

Among the musical numbers will be march, "Message of Love," "Hallelujah" and "Early Memories" by the Pasadena band; "Wondrous Cross" and "Deep Harmony" by the Songsters' Brigade; banjo selections by Mr. Hurd; duet by Albee Cruzberg and Myrtle Hugo; trombone duet by Matt Schofield and Major Corliss; and solo by Lt. Coon. A puppet play, "Jack and the Bean Stalk" will conclude the program.

Officers Arrest Liquor Dealer On Minor Sale Count

Carl Zirlinsky, 22, liquor dealer of 116 North Main street, was arrested by Police Officers Wm. H. Heard and Harry Prichard, charged with selling liquor to minors.

He was released upon a $300 property bond to appear in city police court for arraignment this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The complaint was sworn to by Officer Heard and charges that on April 14 Zirlinsky sold a pint of whiskey to an 18-year-old boy.

ESTATE TRUST CONTROVERSY BEFORE COURT

A trust estate caught in the stock market crash of 1929 and left with a deficit instead of assets, was involved yesterday in a court battle before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, where Mrs. Mary Giavocchini, of Huntington Beach, charged the old Bank of Italy, now the Bank of America, with mismanagement of the trust estate left by her husband, Albert L. Giavocchini, who died in 1928.

The estate, appraised by the state appraiser at $18,870 in the latter part of 1928, after the bank of Italy had filed a petition to probate the will, had shrunk to a deficit of $2533.80 when the bank filed its accounting October 26, 1934.

The widow yesterday demanded that this account by the executor be rejected by the court, and the bank ordered to "make a true accounting." The court after hearing evidence, ordered the case submitted on briefs, allowing 15 days for the plaintiff's opening brief, 15 days for the defense reply brief, and 10 days for the plaintiff's rebuttal brief.

Mrs. Giavocchini charged that the bank had wrongfully wasted assets of the estate amounting to $13,000; that stocks of such value had been included in the trust, and, as perishable assets, should have been and could have been sold. Had they been sold at any time prior to October 19, 1929, when the time for filing creditor claims against the bank had expired, they would have brought at least $11,000 she claimed.

The widow also attacked the bank's action in allegedly pledging stocks of the estate for a loan obtained for the estate from the bank itself. The court order granting such a move was void, she charges, because it permitted the bank to loan money to itself, an act condemned by the courts as culpable and ground for removing an executor, she asserted. She explained that the effect of such an action was to place the trustee in a position adverse to its trust, thereby possibly causing a loss to the trust estate, "a situation which actually developed here," she alleged.

The bank, as executor, had actually obtained a court order permitting sale of the stocks on February 8, 1929, months before the crash, but for some unknown reason, said the widow, had failed to liquidate.

The court order granting such a move was void, she charges, because it permitted the bank to loan money to itself, an act condemned by the courts as culpable and ground for removing an executor, she asserted. She explained that the effect of such an action was to place the trustee in a position adverse to its trust, thereby possibly causing a loss to the trust estate, "a situation which actually developed here," she alleged.

The bank, as executor, had actually obtained a court order permitting sale of the stocks on February 8, 1929, months before the crash, but for some unknown reason, said the widow, had failed to liquidate.

ESTATE TRUST CONTROVERSY BEFORE COURT

A trust estate caught in the stock market crash of 1929 and left with a deficit instead of assets, was involved yesterday in a court battle before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, where Mrs. Mary Giavocchini, of Huntington Beach, charged the old Bank of Italy, now the Bank of America, with mismanagement of the trust estate left by her husband, Albert L. Giavocchini, who died in 1928.

The estate, appraised by the state appraiser at $18,870 in the latter part of 1928, after the bank of Italy had filed a petition to probate the will, had shrunk to a deficit of $2533.80 when the bank filed its accounting October 26, 1934.

The widow yesterday demanded that this account by the executor be rejected by the court, and the bank ordered to "make a true accounting." The court after hearing evidence, ordered the case submitted on briefs, allowing 15 days for the plaintiff's opening brief, 15 days for the defense reply brief, and 10 days for the plaintiff's rebuttal brief.

Mrs. Giavocchini charged that the bank had wrongfully wasted assets of the estate amounting to $13,000; that stocks of such value had been included in the trust, and, as perishable assets, should have been and could have been sold. Had they been sold at any time prior to October 19, 1929, when the time for filing creditor claims against the bank had expired, they would have brought at least $11,000 she claimed.

The widow also attacked the bank's action in allegedly pledging stocks of the estate for a loan obtained for the estate from the bank itself. The court order granting such a move was void, she charges, because it permitted the bank to loan money to itself, an act condemned by the courts as culpable and ground for removing an executor, she asserted. ## SCHOOL BOARD GETS PROTEST FROM WORKERS

Holding its first meeting last evening, the newly elected board of education, with an abbreviated attendance of three members, chose the old chairman, George Wells, as temporary chairman of the new board, and deferred permanent organization until the return of two absent members, M. B. Youel and R. R. Hays, who are in the East.

Hays has been prominently mentioned as likely chairman of the board, because he led the entire field at the election April 4, when the four incumbents who were seeking re-election were returned to the board, and Ridley Smith was elected to fill the vacancy left by retirement of W. M. Burke. Yella, Youel, Hays and Dr. Margarette Baker were the incumbents re-elected.

At the conclusion of the meeting, adjournment was taken to May 1 at 11 a. m., for organization. School laws require High School and Junior College boards to organize not later than that date.

Hears Protest

Among matters coming before the board last night was a protest from the Santa Ana plasterers' union against reported employment of plasterers from Tucson and other outside communities upon the Green Hill projects for reconstruction of Spurgeon and Lathrop schools, while Santa Ana plasterers walk the streets looking for work.

Secretary Newcom was instructed to reply to the communication, expressing regret at such a situation, but pointing out that the local board has no authority over the jobs, which are handled under the state board of public building reconstruction, which provides state funds for the work.

At the urgent recommendation of Principal H. G. Nelson, of Lathrop Junior High school, the board voted against a renewal of a lease, covering a portion of the Lathrop grounds which are occupied by a filling station. The lease expires May 1.

Nelson told the board that the filling station had attracted students as a loitering place, and that conditions there are objectionable from that standpoint.

The new Lathrop heating plant is the wrong type for such a structure, and is erroneously installed, according to a report of the manufacturer, read by Principal Nelson. The report suggested that although the plant has been built into the walls, and cannot be changed, the fault could be partially corrected by changing the motors. There is an opening in the walls, sufficiently large for removal of motors, Nelson said. The board decided to confer with the architect on possible corrective measures.

A $38.25 expense account of Principal D. K. Hammond, of the High School, and an unstated, but smaller account of Principal Nelson, of Julia Lathrop, for attending the state convention of high school principals in San Francisco, were approved by the board. The board, however, rejected a proposal to pay $35 for a dinner to the honor society students of the High School, sponsored by the P. T. A. The reason was simple, they explained. The money would have to come from the cafeteria fund, and that fund is already in "the red."

A proposal from the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce housing committee, that Santa Ana High school boys build model houses to be entered in a contest conducted by the Federal Housing Administration, was tabled when Superintendent Frank Henderson reported that the suggestion had come too late. The contest opened April 1 and will close May 10. At this late stage, there would not be time to complete adequate entries, he said.

A bill for overtime janitor service, amounting to $26.05, was allowed.

A report of school cafeteria operations for April 1 showed a net profit of $8.18 for the preceding month. The High School cafeteria showed a profit of $45.23, but both junior high school cafeterias reported losses, $25.67 at Lathrop, and $11.44 at Willard.

BOARD GRANTS FUND AID FOR BRIDGE WORK

The county supervisors late yesterday appropriated $4000 from the county gas tax to the city of Fullerton, to aid in financing construction of a bridge on Basque avenue.

The appropriation covers costs of engineering and materials, the labor being furnished by SERRA.

The board yesterday rejected a request for a refund of taxes paid upon the building at San Clemente occupied by the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric corporation. The Bank of America owns the building, and asked the refund on the ground that the tenant company is taxed by the state.

Other similar requests have been turned down by the supervisors. A pool room license sought by H. Penhall at Westminster was denied because it lacked approval by the sheriff and district attorney. Sheriff Logan Jackson refused his approval, he stated, because of the prospect that a certain man would manage the establishment. He had no objection to Penhall himself.

Chairman John Mitchell and Clerk J. M. Baker were authorized yesterday to sign a five-year lease with the Irvine company covering the 35-acre site of the former Orange county health camp, near Irvine park, which will be placed at the disposal of the Orange County Council of Boy Scouts. No charge is made for the lease.

'SNEAK' PREVIEW SHOWN LAST NIGHT

Patrons of the Broadway theater last night were privileged to see the first feature production of the new Pioneer Picture company, "Becky Shapp," shown as a "sneak" preview in addition to the regular bill.

Produced entirely in the new process technicolor, the picture was one of the most colorful productions ever shown here. The new company, which made "La Cucaracha," was represented at the preview last night at the Broadway by Jack Whitney, who is interested in the company, Robert Bentley, humorist and actor, and others.

Miriam Hopkins, Frances Dee, Alison Skipworth, Allan Mobery and Billie Burke had featured roles in the new film.

The preview was screened in addition to the regular bill, which includes "Reckless," with Jean Harlow, William Powell and Franchot Tone, which shows for the last times at the Broadway tonight.

HUMORIST SPEAKS FOR 20-30 CLUB

Ted Cook, syndicate columnist, gave an interesting and educational talk to members and guests of the Santa Ana Twenty-Thirty club last night in James' cafe.

The speaker was introduced by Wayne Harrison, who officiated as program chairman of the evening. Cook, who is author of the "Cook-Cooks," gave many interesting behind the scenes sidelights on the newspaper and writing business. He stressed the importance of expressing and developing individuality instead of being bound too firmly to convention.

Entertainment for the meeting was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Hosmar, who played several numbers on Rickenbacker electric guitars.

BOARD VOTES TO PROVIDE TRANSPORTATION TO AVOID STUDENT HITCH-HIKING

Disclosure that four Santa Ana Junior college co-eds hitch-hike to Fullerton Junior college four times a week, even riding beer trucks occasionally, to take a bacteriology course which is lacking at Santa Ana J. C., disturbed the board of education last night to the extent that they decided to vote transportation expenses for the girls.

AVIATION PICTURE NOW AT WALKER'S

Cast as an American flier in the Lafayette Escadrille during the World war who is promoted to his captain's place by death, and who is haunted by the fear of being afraid, Warner Baxter plays a convincing role in "Hell in the Heavens" which opens a two day showing at Walker's State theater today. The cast includes Conchita Montenegro, Russell Hardie, Herbert Mundin, Andy Devine, Ralph Morgan and Vince Barnett.

The other feature on the double program is "Name the Woman," the story of a reporter's success in solving a murder mystery which has baffled the community and which resulted from a hot mayor's campaign. Principal players are Richard Cromwell and Arline Judge.

The program also includes a Grantland Rice sportlike "Water Rodeo."

UTAH MAY HAVE THIRD PARTY

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, (UP)—A third political party in Utah is expected to come from the dissatisfaction expressed toward the all-Democratic legislature's handling of the social, liquor and labor problems.

One pretty thumb-rider was before the board last night with her father, Everett White, former president of the California Real Estate Association, who urged the board to provide transportation for the nine students who are required to make the trip to Fullerton.

"Four of us hitch-hike" said the girl. The others have transportation.

Superintendent Frank Henderson related his discovery that two of the girls had made the trip on a beer truck one morning.

"We are never late," they told Henderson.

The girls, it was explained, are taking nursing courses at Santa Ana J. C., but the college has failed to provide a requisite course in bacteriology.

Dr. Margarette Baker, board member, expressed disapproval of offering nursing on pre-medical courses, with out the requisite bacteriology.

"Since we cannot at this time, because of budget considerations, supply the bacteriology course, we should at least provide transportation for the students to Fullerton, where they can get it."

The Santa Ana students are not charged tuition at Fullerton, but are required to pay a laboratory fee of $150, Miss White said.

Secretary George Newcom was instructed to ascertain transportation costs for the students on motor stages.

CITY MUSEUM ART DISPLAY IS ATTRACTIVE

A current exhibit in Bowers Museum of painting by D. N. Dietrickson, famous alike for his portraits and for his landscapes and marines, and of three of his promising pupils, Norton Gaston, Jerome Gaston and Cliff Tidale, has gained in interest for Santa Anans who have visited the fine display of canvases, by the fact that both Laguna Beach and Long Beach Art associations have accorded fine recognition into the three young men pupils.

Norton Gaston has had two portrait studies accepted by the Laguna Beach association, and his brother, Jerome, has had a still life, all to be hung in the art gallery for the present exhibition. Norton Gaston's paintings are of a mulatto girl and an "Infanta."

The three have had work accepted for Long Beach Art association exhibits, and Tidale has been invited to enter the Laguna Beach exhibit. In addition the three, who have developed a fine technique under the instruction of Dietrickson, have been asked to enter paintings for the May exhibition of the San Diego Art association.

The Norton brothers, in addition to their more serious work under Dietrickson, are well known in this community for their lobby displays in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton theaters.

The Dietrickson exhibition and that of his three pupils will continue in the Bowers Museum until the latter part of May. It is open to the public each day, with an occasional evening lecture on contemporary art and artists by D. N. Dietrickson.

SAGE HONEY TO BE PLentiful THIS SEASON

The present outlook for the sage honey crop in Orange county is the best in years, it was announced today by R. K. Bishop, Orange county apary inspector following the annual field day program of Orange county beekeepers.

Copious rains of the past season have put the sage plants in a vigorous growing condition and flowers are heavily laden with nectar, Bishop said, and the sage condition has never been better than at the present time.

On the other hand, Bishop stated, the crop of orange blossom honey will be short this year, due largely to the late frosts which disturbed the blossom and new growth of the orange tree. This will mean a comparatively small tonnage of honey in the county as a whole, as orange honey represents the largest bulk of honey production.

In discussing the feeding of bees, L. B. Bell of Orange has found that the use of sugar candy is far more efficient for building up weak colonies than is feeding with liquid sweets. The formula presented to the beekeepers consisted of 50 pounds beet sugar, one gallon water, one-half gallon honey, one-half cup of vinegar, and one-half teaspoon cream of tartar.

C. E. Lush, Orange, demonstrated the new method of sprinkling talcum powder on the brood frames during the process of introducing nuclei and queen bees into the colony.

The field day and apary demonstration was held at the A. Crannell apary near Atwood where the 50 beekeepers attending were shown the advantages of Carniolan bees. This strain is very friendly in comparison to other strains. Many of those attending did not wear bee veils while the hives were being opened and no smoke was used to stupefy the colony under inspection.

The program was arranged by the agricultural extension service and the Farm Bureau Beekeepers Department. C. E. Lush presided.

WILLING TO PAY PREMIUM FOR JOB IN S. A. SCHOOLS

Here's another New York racket, trying to get started in Southern California: In a letter of application for a teaching job in Santa Ana schools, received by Superintendent Frank A. Henderson from a woman in Connellsville, Pennsylvania, who has been teaching in the Bronx, New York, a bribe of one month's salary was tactfully offered.

"Many schools in the East",

she wrote, "require an 'admission fee' of one month's salary per year from teachers employed, this being payable to the superintendent of the board of education. 'If that is customary in Santa Ana I am willing to pay that amount for each year I am employed.'"

"I move we refer this to Al Capone," said Henderson, after reading the letter to the board of education last night.

S. A. WOMAN WINS RABBIT TROPHIES

Home from San Diego where she won a number of prizes for her entries in the eleventh annual spring rabbit show, Mrs. J. W. Barlow of the Mardene Rabbitry, 524 Virginia street, is adding her trophies to those won in two preceding exhibits.

Mrs. Barlow brought home a silver cup for the best display of New Zealand rabbits, having entered 13; a silver pitcher for the best individual display of the entire show; the Sperry plaque for the best rabbit in the larger class, which was the New Zealand division; in addition to other awards. The Santa Anan was accompanied to San Diego by her little daughter, Miss Mardene Barlow, who was photographed holding some of the prize-winning rabbits which her mother had entered in the show. Three hundred and fifty Southland rabbit breeders had entries in the event.

JAYSEE OPERA SPECIAL AGENT WILL OPEN IN ORANGE FRIDAY TELLS WORK AT ROTARY CLUB

Arrayed in gay costumes of the New Orleans French in the eighteenth century, Santa Ana Junior college music students will present Sigmund Romberg's opera "New Moon" Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15 o'clock in the Orange High school auditorium under the direction of Miss Myrtle Martin, jaysee music head.

Cleo Smith as Robert, and Agnes de Busk as Marianna are co-starred as leads in the production. Other members of the cast are Norman Mennes as Deval; Art Casey as Ribaud; Jack Rummels as Jaque; Martin Bowman as Alexander; Marc Hase as Philippe; Bulah Enloe as Julie; Bill Marshall as fauchette; Sam Gosney as Beauvoir; Marjorie McDonald as Clotilde; Clarence Compton as Besac; Nelson Rogers as Dolomere; Milford Carmen as Brunet; Lynwood Young as the butler; Frank Lansdown as the Spaniard; Simeon Toelle as Captain Degean and Joseph Langland as the innkeeper.

Dancing for the opera was directed by Miss Zona Leck, jaysee women's athletic instructor. "New Moon" is a story of the French aristocrats in New Orleans after the fall of the Bastille in 1789. Besides the cast, the presentation will include a chorus of 75 mixed voices. The Jaysee orchestra under the direction of Leland Auer will perform instrumental work for the program.

Scenery for the production has been built by the stagecraft class of Santa Ana High school, under the instruction of Miss Hazel Nell Bemis. There will be 12 scene changes throughout the opera.

Lawrence Tibbitt played in this production as his first talking picture. It has been presented in New York and London, and has never been presented by amateur players in this vicinity.

Special agents of public utility companies, while engaged in their town type of problems, co-operate with all police and law enforcement agencies in the suppression of crime as a matter of good public policy. It was declared by Claude Peters, chief special agent of the Southern California Telephone company, speaking yesterday noon before members of the Santa Ana Rotary club at the Green Cat cafe.

The telephone company provided nearly a hundred men for service during the Gettelle kidnapping investigation for the tracing of calls. The speaker said, and calls were traced in from 2 to 3 minutes each. Peters himself listened in 11 times to the kidnappers as they called the Gettelle residence, he said.

Peters reviewed briefly the Anaheim telephone office robbery of three years ago, telling how the gang was apprehended within three days, and paying tribute to a woman employee of the office who risked her life to secure the license number of the robbers' automobile.

Robbery of pay stations and attempts to use slugs for telephone calls require much attention from the telephone company's special agents, Peters said. He told of new alarm systems to catch pay station robbers and the manner in which those who insert slugs in pay phones are caught. The telephone company is defended to the extent of some 2000 slugs each month, Peters declared.

Earl S. Morrow, district manager of the telephone company, was chairman of the day and introduced the speaker. An interesting part of the program was the presentation of gifts from members of the club to Alan Revell, recently married. Mac O. Robbins, Elmer Heidt, Joel Ogle and Wendell Finley constituted the presentation committee, and the assorted gifts were opened amid much merriment. Concluding this part of the program, Heidt sang "O Promise Me." Claude McDowell reported on the chippled children's clinic held recently and commended the splendid work carried on by the Orange County Chippled Children's Relief association.

session of the new property will be taken.

In expanding Oldsmobile's capacity, the production activities of the Lansing division of Fisher Body, which are devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Oldsmobile bodies, will be moved to the newly-acquired buildings. Other production activities, such as motor, axle, sheet metal and final assembly departments, will be expanded at the present 87-acre Oldsmobile factories, replacing the body-building activities to be centered in the new factories. These moves and changes will be so organized that they will not interrupt Oldsmobile's current record-breaking production.

Announcement of expansion of Oldsmobile's output followed closely upon reports that all previous Oldsmobile production and sales records were broken during the first quarter of 1935.

During the month of March over 17,000 Oldsmobiles were delivered to retail purchasers, establishing an all-time record. The largest single day's production in the history of the company was achieved on March 12th when 931 new Oldsmobile 'sixes' and eights were built and shipped.

OLDSMOBILE SETS NEW SALE RECORD, BUYS DURANT PLANT

Purchase by General Motors of the manufacturing plants of the former Durant Motors Corporation to be used to expand the future production facilities of Oldsmobile according to announcement received by Knox Bros., local dealers, from C. L. McCuen, president of the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Mich.

The property purchased is located near the Oldsmobile factory in Lansing on a 48-acre industrial site. The production facilities of Oldsmobile will be expanded to include an area of more than 960,000 square feet in four large modern automotive manufacturing buildings and several smaller buildings.

These modern factories were constructed to house the manufacturing and assembly of Star and Durant automobiles. More than 40,000 automobiles were built in one year in these new Oldsmobile factories although the plants were at no time operated at capacity. The buildings are considered throughout the automotive industry as being models of modern plant design and construction. Immediate pos-

MORNING, DEAN OF NIGHT BALL HURLERS, TO RETIRE

One by one the hardy pioneers has been a rare exception. He of night ball, fellows who gave the sport its early impetus in this region, are falling by the wayside.

Latest to announce his retirement is the veteran Huntington Beach pitcher, Howard Morning. It is not pleasant to write Morning's baseball obituary. In addition to being the ablest left-hander in the game, Morning has been a fine sportsman, a credit to the peculiar little business he helped lift to amazing popularity.

Morning will be subject to call if needed this summer, but he has requested Manager Joe Rodgers of the Oilers to do without him if possible and Rodgers says Morning can go into voluntary exile with his best respects and wishes.

A 10-Year Man

Night ball became a major sport hereabout in 1925. Morning was pitching before that by a couple of years. Long Beach and Whittier then were the outstanding clubs, dividing inter-city laurels between them each summer.

Morning had only one real rival, Lloyd Johnson of Whittier. The pitcher's box in those days was only 22 feet removed from the plate, and Morning and Johnson poured strikes past the batsmen with such merciless persistence that in a year or two the rules were changed so that the mound was set back into the diamond three feet.

Night ball submariners still have an obvious advantage over the hitter. The batsman does not have time to "look over" the pitcher, often falls prey to a smart change-of-pace. The hurler seldom works more than twice a week, and his games are never as long or involved as in regular baseball.

Tet for some reason, never satisfactorily explained, night pitchers seldom last. Perhaps it is the strain on the arm of the Jerky underhand delivery, possibly the dank night air, improved hitting has sent many into the discard. Whatever the cause, few are quite a span for a summer, even the best ones.

A tall, graceful chap with a free and easy motion, Morning

STARS OFF FOR COLTON: FLYERS LOSE TO RUBES

Rounding into shape after nearly three weeks of training season routine, Santa Ana's Stars tonight make their third trip of the year into American league territory for an exhibition contest at Colton.

Venn Botts, perennial ace of infield pitchers, will work part time against Bill Cole's henchmen although Botts is still technically the property of San Bernardino club. Kemp, another first rate slugger, will go to the knoll when Botts has had enough. Botts was supposed to manage Colton this summer.

In keeping with his policy of giving all members of his troupe plenty of action, Cole will use at least two and probably three pitchers. He had not decided today who will get the call but the starter might be Wilson Seacord, the Jaycee football player who rejoined the Stars Monday night.

Huntington Beach's champion Oilers, undefeated this spring, added San Bernardino to their growing list of victims at San Bernardino last night. The score was 5 to 2.

Merle Lesser, a city league southpaw from Long Beach, toiled impressively for the champs. He went three innings without allowing a hit. Sabella and Zaby went the rest of the distance, giving up one hit apiece.

S. C. SQUAD ENTERS INVITATIONAL MEET

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—While Coach Dean Cromwell rests most of his U. S. C. varsity track athletes this week-end in preparation for the renewal of conference hostilities May 4 with Stanford at Palo Alto, leading Trojan frosh and a scattering of varsity men will compete Saturday in the Santa Barbara Invitational championships.

Carl Carpenter in the discus and Al Fitch in the sprints will be the principal varsity competitors who will go to Santa Barbara. By speeding up his "reverse" in the ring, Carpenter last Saturday jumped from 153-foot distances to the select class of discus hurlers who have beaten 160 feet. His mark of 161-10, made in the S. C. U. C. L. A. meet, is a new Trojan record.

Fitch, now a quarter-mile, will try the sprints, his old event at Pasadena high school. Other varsity athletes slated to compete there are Osburn, sprinters; Monro, 880; Hanshaw, mile; Culp, high hurdles; Bumstead and King, hurdles; Geizer, Glasco and Phillips, shot and discus, and Busby, shot put.

Eighteen freshmen, headed by Adrian Talley, sprinters; Don Skinner, broad jump; Tex Milner, javelin throw; John Thoeny, mile, and Delos Thurber, high jump, will form a strong team for the Santa Barbara meet.

The Standing Room Only sign was hung out the second week of this month this year. No more boxes. No more reserved seats. To be sure there'll be seats, but if you want one, you'll have to get there at 9 a. m. You'll face an eight-hour wait, but if you don't like the idea, forget it. Thousands will be eager to get their first brief vacation after a long winter, and will crowd into seats or standing room with no sign of complaint unless it is that they are unable to fight their way to a bar for another mint julep. Most Derby visitors drink a great race.

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—(UP)—Oscar Rankin, red-headed Negro middleweight of Los Angeles, won an easy decision over "Swede" Berglund of San Bernardino in a 10-round main event bout here last night.

The bulky fighter won six rounds, allowed his opponent two and broke even in two others.

QUEEN OF COURT

Petite Marjorie Lauderbach, below, will be one of Santa Ana's color-bearers in the fourth annual Ojai tennis tournament, beginning Thursday and closing Sunday.

Santa Ana's ablest tennis players, led by Lewis Wetherell and Miss Marjorie Lauderbach, left today for Ojai, which will be the tennis capital of the state Thursday, Friday and Saturday during its annual tournament.

Miss Lauderbach will play in the women's singles and in mixed doubles with Robert Stafford of Glendale. Wetherell has entered the intercollegiate singles and doubles, pairing with Orris Davis of Santa Ana in the latter event.

Other Santa Ana players enrolled are Muryl Hallman, Carl Aubrey and Bobby Peacock.

County League Rejects 13-Inch Sphere

There will be no 13-inch ball or 50-foot baselines for the Orange County Night Baseball league which gets under way May 20 with an eight club set-up, embracing Brea, Fullerton, San Juan Capistrano, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Placentia, Irvine and Olive.

Meeting at McFarland's cafe, managers voted on the National league's proposed rule changes last night and rejected them unanimously. Even Ben Gelker, of Olive, who has been a booster for the smaller ball, said "no."

First night games were drawn as follows: Garden Grove at Capistrano; Huntington Beach at Brea; Fullerton at Irvine; Placentia at Olive. Bill Cole and Victor Walker, both Santa Anans, were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Representatives present were Gene Thomas, Irvine; Ben Gelker, Olive; J. D. Neale, Brea; Chas Condon, San Juan Capistrano; Kenneth Duncan, Garden Grove; James Roberts, Fullerton; H. O. Easton, Placentia, and Dante Siracusa, Huntington Beach.

This will be the last year of softball for the county preps. The schools go back to regular ball in 1936, according to a recent decision of their principals.

Tustin, which has defeated Orange twice in practice engagements, will start against Harbor with Ed Bristow or Sam Francis pitching. Jeff Richards catching, Harry Stanley at first base, Paul Francis at second, Dean Francis at third, Bob Forbes short, and Ellsworth Teter, Bob Spray, Al Reyes, Bob Holmes and Walt DeBrouwer in the outfield.

Other clubs kick off Friday as follows: Garden Grove at Valencia; Anaheim at Huntington Beach; Brea-Orinda at Orange, and San Juan Capistrano at Laguna Beach.

PIRONE OR RISKO NEXT FOR CORBETT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—(UP)—With a date and one-half of a windup fight arranged, San Francisco promoters today sought an opponent to meet Young Corbett III of Fresno, in a ten-round bout here May 20.

Corbett has agreed to fight either Paul Pirrone, hard-hitting Cleveland middleweight, or "Babe" Risko, latest sensation of the 156-pound ranks, if either can be obtained.

BRADDOCK HAS SHABBY RECORD AS CHALLENGER

By HENRY McLEMORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 24.—This column is addressed to those gentlemen who, in the past week or so, have written in demanding to know why I am so positive that Bradbrock will not only lick Jimmy Braddock, but will knock the stuffing out of him from the second they ring the first bell until James is removed more dead than alive.

Gentlemen, I could give you several answers, but I think the best one is to be found on page 59 of the 1934 Everlast boxing record. It's there in black and white—Bradbrock's record I mean. Let us look at what James has accomplished in the past seven years. You can go back further than that if you care to, but about all you'll find will be a bunch of names like Walter Westman, Phil Welsberger, Frankie Lennon and Carmine Caggiano.

What the Records Show

In 1928, the man who will meet Baer for the world's heavyweight championship, looked Paul Switzer, lost to Joe Seayra in 10.

In 1929 James didn't whip anybody. But lots of folk whipped him, including Leo Lomski, Yale Okun, Tommy Loughran and Maxie Rosenbloom.

A year later Bradbrock did a bit better, managing to gain a 10-round decision over Joe Monte. But this sterling victory was overshadowed by drubbings from Lomski, "Babe" Hunt and Billy Jones, and he wound up the year with a batting average of .333.

He maintained this average in 1931. Ernie Schaaf, Sekyra and Al Gainer beat him, but he got his one out of four by turning back one Jack Kelly, who didn't want to leave his elevator in the first place. Oh yes, he was shown out of the ring with Rosenbloom this year.

Then Came the Deluge

The depression really hit Bradbrock in 1932. He started auspiciously with a five-round win over Vincent Parille and a 10-round defeat by "Dynamite" Jackson, but after that it was Katy bar the door. After losing decisions to Baxter Calmes, Charley Retzlaff, Tony Shucco, John Henry Lewis and Tom Patrick, he was knocked kicking in six by Lou Sozza.

In 1933 he won from Martin Levandowski, Al Stillman, Les Kennedy and Chester Matin, but was outgalled by Hans Birkie, Levandowski (return match), Al Stillman (another return), and was in a no contest thing with Abe Feldman in dear old Yonkers.

If anybody had named him the outstanding challenger for the heavyweight championship at the end of 1933, there would have been nothing but laughs. As he has done nothing since then save whip Corn Griffin, John Henry Lewis and Art Lasky, I think a laugh or two is still in order.

Boating eight other teams to the punch by a full day, Tustin and Newport Harbor high schools open their baseball season with a regular Orange league game at Tustin tomorrow.

This will be the last year of softball for the county preps. The schools go back to regular ball in 1936, according to a recent decision of their principals.

Keen Competition In Jaycee Meet Certain

With competition extremely keen in practically every one of the 15 events on the Eastern Junior college conference sports meet program at San Bernardino Saturday, indications are that titles in 13 events are wide open and hotly-contested free-for-all will result.

Only in the mile and high hurdles do there appear outstanding favorites. And these championships are far from cinches, especially if Santa Ana's Rudy Holman attempts to hook the two-mile as well and Lucian Wilson, another Don athlete, experiences difficulty in keeping his barriers up.

Holman has negotiated the mile in 4:32.9, 12 full seconds faster of his nearest competitor's best mark. He has also made the eight-lap event in 10:12, well ahead of the conference record but two seconds behind the mark of San Bernardino's Smith. Neither has been prosed. Wilson's 15.1-second high hurdle time is a fifth of a second ahead of the field.

But the other events find red-hot battles between two, three and even four athletes looming. The accompanying list of seasonal records shows just how true this to be:

Best conference winning times and distances:

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON

MISERABLE COMPANY
A lot of good Democratic congressmen are secretly pulling for Huey in his hair-pulling fracas with PWA Director Ickes. They would never enter into it publicly, but the fact is some of their states have suffered many similar troubles with the dispenser of federal largess. It is a case of misery appreciating even such bad company as Huey.

Any closer observer could see they rather enjoyed seeing Huey yank at the wispy locks of Mr. Ickes. A couple of them came up to him later and told him so. They did not know or care much about the facts in the case. Nor did the idea of dragging in President Roosevelt's name. Privately they felt Huey was jangling himself into forensic excesses which may ruin his case. Yet anyone attacking Mr. Ickes might be considered in a sense as their friend.

Thus, for the first time in his life or theirs, Huey found himself being patted on the back in the cloakrooms by some of his enemies.

SOVEREIGNTY

The administration is going to some length to avoid appearances of interference with the states. If you ask about what happened to all the bills they sent out for the state legislatures to pass, the new state legislatures will tell you from department without an answer. It is an indisputable fact, however, that twenty-one state legislatures have now adjourned without enacting many of the bills suggested by the PWA, FHA, NRA, FERA, FDIC and FCA. Even the new dealers admit that the number of state legislatures which have fallen in line is "very small."

Indeed, there appears to be good ground for suspecting that the legislatures generally sulked in silent rebellion against most of the state legislation sent to them from Washington.

The PWA prepared as many as 500 bills for all the state legislatures. The most received by any one state was twenty and the lowest was six. The bills vary in each state due to local laws. Their general objective is to remove limitations on powers of states and localities to borrow money, issue bonds and engage in public works.

The failure of the legislatures leaves the PWA in an acute situation. PWA-ers say it would not be accurate to say that state failure to cooperate would be denied PWA funds. Yet it is clearly well understood here and elsewhere that the states and governors who play ball will receive "a better opportunity" for consideration in Washington.

DENIALS
Of course, you understand the new dealers all insist this is not coercion. Both Mr. Ickes and Secretary Perkins (in connection with social security legislation) say they sent out the bills mostly on request and are not checking on what happened to them.

In the case of the FHA, however, Mr. Roosevelt has publicly requested governors to push the laws through. He has succeeded so far in thirty-seven states.

SKIN-GAME
Trimming suffered in the world marts by the Yankee traders of the new deal have been widely advertised, but there have been several.

Most interesting is that one arranged by the Export-Import bank whereby the Pullman company could make important sales to Brazil. Under it, Pullman underbid the Germans. Then the Germans withdrew their bid and put in a new, still lower. It was based on an exchange of Brazilian cotton for German cars. So the Germans got the business.

What makes the Yankee traders reel slightly is the fact that the Brazilian-German deal involved the same principle they rejected in dealing with Germany and one of the reasons they rejected it was because protests came from—your guessed it—Brazil.

TAXES
A unique new tax plan is being talked about in treasury circles. It would do three things: (1) reduce income rates below $5,000; (2) reduce exemptions to make the little fellows all pay something; (3) boost rates in the middle brackets and on inheritance taxes.

You may or may not hear something about this before congress adjourns. But you will hear about it eventually, for this is the line along which the treasury brain men are thinking.

It may sound, off-hand, like a confusing idea, but it is really well thought out. The great bulk of the population (and the voters) are in classes underneath $5,000. It would cost the treasury little to grant many of them a tax reduction before the next election. The little fellows, now exempt, would be tapped for only a few cents apiece. To make it more popular, the $5,000—and up—class could be soaked again.

The best indications now are that this plan will wait until next session, just prior to the presidential elections. However, it is the basis of what Speaker Byrns had in mind a week or so ago when he significantly mentioned the subject of tax reduction to the house.

has been made in his behalf.

Moffett is supposed to favor Steward MacDonald, one-time St. Louis police commissioner and ex-head of Moon Motors.

The betting by members of the staff is 2 to 1 in favor of MacDonald. Some are betting the FHA will not last as a major project for another year, no matter who wins the job.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

LAMENT
The proposal to transform the Federal Reserve Board into a Federal Monetary Authority—warmly sponsored by leaders of farm groups and the Committee for the Nation—was quietly strangled to death in the House Banking Committee last week. Its demise was a huge disappointment to its confident supporters and they privately contend there was something peculiar in the way it was given the works.

Congressman Goldsborough of Maryland had charge of nursing the precious amendment through the committee. Critical New York observers remark that measures which Goldsborough handles have a habit of dying young. Some members of the group which wanted a monetary authority made this point in preliminary conferences and tried to have someone else named as Congressional steersman.

They were over-ruled by colleagues who had confidence in the Marylander—and are now indulging in an offstage chant of "I told you so." Interested parties lament the possibility of resurrecting the plan at this session.

BLOCKED
Monetary Authority proponents realize that the White House could hardly have been keen for their amendment. It would have transferred control of gold, silver and Federal Reserve operations in government securities from the Treasury to a body that might have become quite independent. Yet they admit that the administration never so much as hinted to the House Committee that it had any objections.

Well-posted sources are firm in their private belief that FDI has an unofficial arrangement whereby by Congressman Goldsborough serves as devil's advocate for measures he wants pinholed but doesn't wish to oppose openly. They call it an ingenious demonstration of Mr. Roosevelt's versatility at political cat-killing.

Financial conservatives were delighted to get word that this might have been laid. They feared it as the one move which could unite proponents of a government-owned central bank and those who prefer merely to re-tailor the Federal Reserve system. Now they figure they can promote the split in enemy ranks—thereby giving them a better than even chance to block the transfer of credit control into unsympathetic hands.

CONCESSIONS
New York utility leaders were heartened by Speaker Byrns' statement that a regulatory bill would go through the House easily where as a "death sentence" bill would result in protracted debate and might not pass at all. This admission by one of the new deal's chief legislative lieutenants foreshadowed acceptance of the compromise they seek.

Most utility heads are now converted to the idea that some form of regulation is preferable to no action at all—as the only escape from new deal rough riding. There is general agreement in the industry that Wendell Willkie's suggestions for federal legislation offer a satisfactory basis on which to act together with the government. Their future strategy will be concentrated along that line.

Actually they are willing to go beyond the Willkie program with-out protest if the administration is willing to talk things over in a reasonable spirit. This program was intended chiefly as a starting point for discussion. Additional concessions not yet announced—are ready to be offered if they will speed the program of "rational regulation."

TRIUMPH
The power people are cheered by developments in another sector also. The defeat of a municipal power plant project at Auburn, New York is rated a significant turn in the tide of public sentiment. The Auburn vote was watched as an important test. The city had been the scene of a bitter fight and the private company operating there is not exactly popular. The setting seemed made to order for a public ownership victory. Only a few weeks ago New York conservatives were conceding a licking in advance.

Local politics was a factor in the reversal. The Republican Mayor ambitiously expanded the size and cost of the original project by several times—and Democrats withdrew their support. Even so the result was a notable triumph for private enterprise in a state where promotion of public plants is being fostered by several important sources.

HAPPY
Wall Street's second thoughts on the Security Commission's new trading rules are even more favorable than the first reactions. The general feeling is that permanent loss of large pool operations will eventually be more than offset by wider and more confident public participation. Pool antics did bring a lot of customers into the market—but those customers became liabilities when short.

Brokers are also convinced that the Commission's activities make it the logical target for public resentment next time there's a market collapse instead of themselves—and that's a happy thought.

PENSION

Insiders say that Mayor LaGuardia of New York needed the vacation he is taking in the West. The Mayor has confided to friends that the city's huge problems keep him in such a state of nervous tension that his pillow slip has to be changed several times a night.

WISER

Last year the Edison Electric Institute—in a burst of patriotism or something—decided to hold its 1935 convention in Washington. The scene has now been shifted to Atlantic City. Attendance at these conventions has usually been rather thin. This time a drive is on to bring out large delegations.

"The American Bankers' Association meeting in Washington last fall was worked up into a love feud between the bankers and the government," they recall. "In our case it was more likely to develop into a brick-throwing contest. It was wiser not to lead anybody into temptation—and we know Atlantic City will be hospitable."

HOUSING GROUP TO HOLD CONFERENCE

ANAHEIM, April 24.—Members of the advisory committee of the Federal Housing program have been called to a special meeting at the chamber of commerce Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The call was issued by M. E. Beebe, chairman of the program for Anaheim.

Beebe said that the purpose of the meeting will be to organize support of the program and to discover the wishes of committee members relative to entering a contest sponsored by the better housing program in connection with the exposition to be held in Los Angeles.

MERCHANTS HEAR CONVENTION PLAN

ANAHEIM, April 24.—Judge J. S. Howard will be the speaker today at the noon meeting of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, according to L. H. London, president of the organization. Howard will discuss plans for the Odd Fellows convention to be held here in October.

According to present expectations there will be approximately 1500 persons in the city during the period of the convention. Because of this number of people who will visit the city and bring additional business, Judge Howard, who is convention chairman, is asking the cooperation of the merchant.

SHOT IN LEG, RECOVERING
ANAHEIM, April 24.—Rushed to the Orange county hospital shortly after noon yesterday with a gunshot wound in his leg, Tony Guzman, 16, is improving, according to word from the hospital today.

Young Guzman was taken to the hospital after a shotgun he was cleaning went off and fired a full charge of shot in his left leg below the knee. Considerable concern was felt for the injured youth last night because of the quantity of blood lost on the trip to the hospital.

The Rule of the ENGLISH RAJAS

THREE generations of English men have governed the small English dependency of Sarawak, lying along the northwest coast of Borneo—and all three in the capacity of Rajah. Today, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke is the Rajah Brooke who rules Sarawak, just as his father, Sir Charles John Brooke, and as did his father, Sir James Brooke. Sir James had taken the title from Mida Hassim, in 1842, when he succeeded in quelling the disturbances of the country.

All three Rajahs are pictured on stamps of Sarawak. The one shown is of the present ruler, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, the only living English Rajah.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD BY W. C. T. U.
FULLERTON, April 24.—Honoring the memory of Mrs. Ursula Zinke, immediate past president of Fullerton W. C. T. U., members Tuesday held a memorial service for her at the regular session at the Methodist church. Mrs. Zinke had served as an active member and official of the Fullerton Union for many years.

In the absence of Mrs. Cora Hale, Mrs. Carrie McFadden presided. Mrs. R. E. Peschel led the devotional service and Mrs. Jennie Vandenberg and Mrs. Agnes Cooper sang a duet.

Reports of the recent county executive meeting at Costa Mesa were presented by Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Cora Crumrine of Buena Park.

The May 14 meeting will be at the Methodist church and will start at 10 a. m., with a covered dish luncheon at noon.

Retired Minister, Anaheim Pioneer Called by Death

ANAHEIM, April 24.—Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. from the Hilgenfeld funeral home for the Rev. George W. Schroeder, retired minister and resident of this district for the past 23 years. Reverend Schroeder died this morning at an Orange hospital where he was taken recently following a fall he had at his ranch home.

Reverend Schroeder who lived on his ranch on Gilbert avenue, one quarter of a mile north of Chapman avenue, was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, St. Louis Conference, and a member of the Woodmen of the World, Pasadena Camp No. 253.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sophia W. Schroeder; two sons, Charles G. Schroeder, Garden Grove, and Rev. C. Fred Schroeder, Ramona, Calif.; two brothers, John H. Schroeder of Enterprise, Kan., and Fred C. Schroeder of South Pasadena, and one sister, Mrs. Walter Miltenberger of Courtland, Neb.

The Rev. Clifford N. Jones, retired minister of Garden Grove, will officiate at the funeral service, which will be assisted by the Rev. B. F. Rosseter and the Rev. H. B. Spayd. Interment will be in the family plot at Wilmington cemetery.

PUBLICITY FUND IN ANAHEIM SET AT $4800

ANAHEIM, April 24.—The city council last night adopted the advertising ordinance appropriating $4800 for promotional work. This fund, according to the ordinance will be expended and paid direct by the city.

Provisions in the ordinance were that the fund could be used to provide music, advertise the city and for promotional work. All locations of the amount will be made by the council at a later date.

The council also adopted an ordinance amending and repealing certain sections of Ordinance No. 476 which created the public service department. The sections repealed and amended were for the purpose of allowing the city to establish a new rate for light and power at the high school.

A resolution declaring weeds growing on public streets a nuisance, also was adopted by the council. Under provisions of the resolution the city can order the weeds removed and charge the service against the property.

Miss Alice Grimsaw and Miss E. Kate Rea were reappointed to the city library board by a unanimous vote of the council.

SCHOOL BOARD GIVES AID TO SERA PROGRAM

FULLERTON, April 24.—Physical education facilities of the Fullerton Union High school with the exception of the swimming pool will be turned over to the group sponsoring a SERA recreational program next summer. It was decided at a meeting of the board of trustees held Tuesday.

Harry M. May, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared on behalf of the playground and recreation group.

Other business at the school board meeting included discussion of teacher load and changes in courses and preliminary discussion of the budget. It was agreed to meet at 5 p. m. April 30 for budget consideration.

Introduction of a course in astronomy in the junior college was discussed. Louis Plummer, principal of the school, announced that L. O. Culp, head of the commercial department was elected president of the State Commerce Teachers' association at a recent meeting.

The reorganization of the board will be effected at the next regular meeting, Claude Ridgeway, president, was re-elected March 29.

VALENCIA SEASON STARTING EARLY
ANAHEIM, April 24.—Starting earlier than usual export shipments of valencias from the Anaheim area are far ahead of those for last year according to A. H. Kirchmann, manager of the Central Orange County citrus exchange. Kirchmann said that while no shipments were made before May 1 last year that houses operating under the exchange this year would have shipped 100 cars to foreign markets by May 1.

Under the prorate Central California is doing the heaviest shipping for domestic consumption, he said. However the domestic market is being opened for local houses. Last week a few boxes were allotted to Anaheim. These allotments will gradually increase he said until the navels are all off the markets and then valencia shipments will increase materially. It is expected that domestic shipments will reach the seasonal average sometime in the middle of May.

E. P. Hapgood Is Named Anaheim M.W.D. Director

ANAHEIM, April 24.—City Engineer E. P. Hapgood was named last night by the city council as the Anaheim director on the Metropolitan Water District board. Hapgood will succeed O. E. Steward who was killed in an automobile accident two weeks ago near Parker dam.

Hapgood was named successor to Steward in a resolution adopted after an adjournment had been taken to consider bids submitted for the re-roofing of the city hall. All bids submitted for the re-roofing job were rejected by the council after checking and consideration. Two of the bids were thrown out upon submission as the bidders had failed to comply with the requirement of a certified check accompanying the bid.

The meeting place formerly was announced for the home of Mrs. S. W. McCulloch on Placentia avenue but was changed because of illness in the home. The program will depict music and poetry of leading Californians. Miss Marjorie Allen will bring dramatic readings.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO CONVENE THURSDAY

LOANS NOW ARE AVAILABLE FOR FARMERS HERE

Funds, administered by the Farm Credit Administration, from a special appropriation made by congress are now available to the farmers of the county. It was announced today by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

Loans are made for summer fallowing, for the production and harvesting of crops, or for the purchase of feed for livestock. The loans are made in multiples of $5 with a minimum of $10 and a maximum of $500. Interest is charged at the rate of five and one-half percent per annum, which is deducted at the time the loan is made.

Applicants who are not cooperating directly in the crop production control program or who are proposing to increase their 1935 production of basic agricultural commodities are not eligible. Likewise they are eligible to obtain credit from any other agency the application cannot be favorably considered.

These loans are not available to finance new farmers but rather are intended to assist the established farmer who has his land, livestock and machinery to produce the crop but lacks complete finances to defray all production or harvesting costs or lacks sufficient feed to carry his livestock through.

Money obtained from this fund cannot be used for the purchase of machinery or livestock or for the payment of taxes or other liens.

The credit agency takes a lien on the crop or livestock and a subrogation of claim must be obtained by the borrower from any other lien holders.

A county crop loan committee has been appointed and is ready to pass on all applications submitted. Applications are taken by W. V. Brady in the S. E. R. A. headquarters building at Second and Broadway, Santa Ana.

NEW LASALLE IS ANNOUNCED HERE

A brilliant new LaSalle, greater in power, quicker in traffic and faster on the road, was announced today by the Cadillac Motor Car Co., local dealers.

Lengthened wheelbase lends added charm to the smart, slender lines that have gained style dominance for LaSalle. Four striking bodies by Fisher grace the new chassis; the two-door five-passenger touring sedan, two-passenger coupe, four-door touring sedan, and convertible coupe. Integral trunks provide ample luggage space in the sedans. Generous provision for baggage also has been made in the coupes. A comfortable rumble seat in the convertible coupe accommodates two additional passengers, an arrangement which also may be had at extra cost in the two-passenger coupe. Closed bodies are of the new all-steel turret top type. Rakeless, two-piece "V" windshields are standard on all models.

Split-second acceleration, exceptional hill-climbing ability and increased top speed distinguish the flashing performance of the new LaSalle, which, like its predecessor, is Cadillac-designed and Cadillac-built throughout. Many factors combine to achieve LaSalle's inspiring performance. Of first importance is the larger motor which now develops greater horsepower. The output of power has been raised by an increase in motor displacement to 245 cubic inches, by a highly effective type of cylinder head which does not require premium gasoline, and by various developments in carburetion, valve design and distribution of fuel.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 24.—(UP)—Refusal of the state senate to confirm appointment of John C. Porter, former mayor of Los Angeles, as a member of the state personnel board caused a large amount of speculation on the question:

"Does the governor control the senate or does he not?"

Opinions varied. Friends of the executive insisted the rejection of Porter meant nothing except that a majority of senators did not feel that the former Los Angeles mayor was qualified for the position. Opponents of the governor believed the vote showed definitely that the senate will not go down the line on all administration proposals. Some senators hailed the Porter fight as proof that the senate would not act as a rubber stamp for the governor. Others felt it merely provided a means of "getting even" with Frank F. Merriam because he put them on the spot by advocating unqualified endorsement of the Townsend Old Age Pension plan.

Previous activities in the senate indicated that the upper house would not support former EPIC proposals, but there was no way of determining how far the senators would go toward backing the Merriam program in all its details, because few administrative policy measures have reached the senate. Consideration of controversial measures has been delayed to such an extent that the legislature, as usual, will have the bulk of its work to accomplish in the last part of the session. Not until then will the balance of power in both houses be determined finally.

When the session began in January, it appeared that the senate would be strongly pro-Merriam all the way, and that most of the trouble would arise in the assembly. Since then, changes have occurred and opinions have altered.

The assembly continues to be troublesome, but not just along administration and anti-administration lines. Any time a controversial bill is considered, the lower house may be relied upon for a fight. Instead of bucking the administration, however, the assembly has had a tendency to fall in line behind the program. Time after time, a group of 27 or 28 EPIC-Democrats has formed the only force voting for or against a bill.

It appeared, therefore, that predictions concerning the assembly would fall flat, and the lower house although devoting long hours to argument would swing in behind most of the governor's plans.

The senate, on the other hand, has presented a major question that has puzzled administration leaders. And in the assembly, some of the liberals have shown a tendency to join the EPIC crowd lately and may marshal enough strength to reject the administration budget if animosity continues. The Democratic bloc is not very happy about the way in which the administration income tax measure was pounded through.

Observers have quit making predictions.

If Governor Merriam wanted to show the senate what he thought of it in connection with the Porter episode, he could postpone appointment of a person to the vacancy on the personnel board until after the session, then put Porter in there and chuckle for nearly two years. The law provides that when an appointment is made that requires confirmation of the senate, the appointee may serve until he is confirmed by the upper house. If Porter were appointed in June, therefore, he could serve at least until January, 1937.

There was no indication, however, that the governor would go that far to slap the senate. He said he would submit another name before the session ends.

Veteran Senator W. P. Rich, Marysville, president pro-tem of the upper house, has had little success in chiding the senators into going to work. During his latest criticism of slow action, he said day, night and Sunday meetings would be necessary if the legislature expects to draw up a revenue program and approve the budget.

During the first six weeks of the session, only one of many important tax plans received final action, and practically no consideration was given the budget. Despite the apparent absence of accomplishment, however, the legislature was said to be "in good shape" in comparison with past sessions, and members were hopeful of concluding their activities about May 20.

Southern California Play Tournney Opens Tomorrow

TOURNAMENT OF ONE-ACT PLAYS HERE 3 NIGHTS

Gratifying response on the part of Little Theater groups of the Southland to plans of Santa Ana Community Players for the ninth annual Southern California Tournament of One-Act Plays, promises to make the programs in P. U. auditorium Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week, among the most interesting in the history of the tournament.

Frank Lansdown, tournament director, has the able co-operation of all members of the host association, working with the general committee in preparation to entertain several hundred players from Oakland in the north, to San Diego in the south. The general tournament committee includes in addition to Lansdown, Harry Hanson, president of Santa Ana association; Gladys Simpson Shaffer, director; Mrs. W. H. Spurgeon, Mrs. M. Burr Wellington, Mrs. Marshall Harnois, technical director; Mrs. Alan Revell (Elsie Spruance), Moana Summers Smith and W. N. Cummings.

Theatrical groups entering the tournament will compete for two main prizes, the Mrs. William E. Otis cup and a $50 cash award made by Mrs. Charles A. Riggs, and the William Lorenz cup and a $25 cash award made by the Register publishing company. In addition will be best prizes which the host association will present for outstanding individual work by cast members.

The cash award for the first prize is a definite yearly contribution by Mrs. Riggs as the Charles A. Riggs Memorial award. The late Charles A. Riggs was one of the most active members of the group launching Santa Ana Community Players 15 years ago.

Each night of the tournament will feature a dinner in advance of the program, complementing those taking part in that night's productions. There will be an after-theater party also, staged in the Ebelle clubhouse. Mrs. M. Burr Wellington is chairman of the dinner committee, while the more informal parties will be directed by Miss Clara Kate Owens and her committee.

Saturday afternoon's round table will be held in the clubhouse lounge under chairmanship of Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson. At the tea which will succeed the discussions, Mrs. William E. Otis, Mrs. Charles A. Riggs and Mrs. J. Frank Burke will preside at the tables. On the final night of the tournament while the judges are making their decision, Santa Ana Players will present a courtesy one-act, Robert Speed's dramatization, "Ant It Always That Way," of the O. Henry story, "Whirligig of Life." Gladys Simpson Shaffer is directing the cast composed of Gertrude Horn, R. Carson Smith and Arthur Collins. This play is not entered competitively.

A bullet-shaped racing car has been tested at high speed in England. Greater speed is expected to result from this design without increase in size of the power plant.

TO ENTERTAIN PLAYERS

Leading members of Santa Ana Community Players' association upon whom will devolve the responsibility of entertaining entrants in the annual Southern California Tournament of One-Act Plays, opening tomorrow night in Ebelle auditorium, are pictured below. In the bottom row, reading from left to right, are Gladys Simpson Shaffer, director; Mrs. M. Burr Wellington, chairman of the dinner committee, and Miss Clara Kate Owens, refreshment chairman. In the upper row are Harry Hanson, association president; William H. Spurgeon, past president, and Frank Lansdown, tournament director.

DEATHS CAUSED BY ACCIDENTS DECREASE HERE

While accidental deaths increased in California during 1934, there was a decrease in such fatalities in Orange county, where the total dropped from 133 in 1933 to an even 100 in 1934, according to statistics revealed today by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer.

In the state as a whole, according to figures of the state board of health, there were 5566 accidental deaths in 1934, as compared to 5153 in 1933.

The most conspicuous increase, as expected, was in the deaths resulting from motor vehicle accidents, which jumped from 2403 in 1933 to 2798 in 1934.

Most of these fatalities were due to collisions, which accounted for 959 deaths of pedestrians and 849 deaths due to collisions between vehicles. Of the 959 deaths of pedestrians, 295 were individuals 65 years of age or over, while 29 were under four years of age.

Among the motor vehicle deaths were 1456 of persons who were gainfully employed at the time of the accident, as compared to 1328 such individuals killed in 1933.

Increases of deaths in the occupational groups were smaller than in traffic cases, the report shows. Out of 414 deaths due to occupational causes in 1934, 134 occurred in trades, 75 in agriculture, 54 in construction, and 51 in mining and quarrying.

Accidents in the homes also caused more deaths last year, as well as did public accidents not involving motor vehicles. More than half of the deaths due to accidents in the homes were attributable to falls. There were 662 such deaths, 505 of which were of individuals 65 years of age or over.

There were 212 deaths last year due to conflagrations, burns, and explosions, and 130 were due to poisoning, gas, and similar causes.

Aviation apparently became more safe last year, deaths due to air accidents dropping from 76 in 1933 to 53 in 1934.

Drownings increased, there being 333 in 1934 and 269 in 1933. In the state, in Orange county there were seven drownings each year. In the state total, more than half were individuals more than 25 years of age.

Statement given On Death Cause

Dr. Paul Esslinger, the attending physician, today corrected a published report that Milo R. Shinn, of Dana Point, recent victim of a tractor accident, died as a result of an infection following his injury. Death, said the physician, was caused by a blood clot on the brain. Shinn had suffered a fracture of facial bones when struck by the handle of a tractor he was cranking, it was stated.

P.-T. A. Sponsors Play For Friday

BUENA PARK, April 24.—Presented by the dramatics class of Fullerton Night school, a one-act play will be given Friday evening in the Grand avenue grammar school auditorium. Funds from the affair, sponsored by the P.-T. A., will be used to purchase new drapes for the auditorium.

The play is directed by Leah Whitteist, dramatics teacher. The program, under the general direction of Mrs. Bertha Spohn, will include numbers by local talent.

A brief meeting of the P.-T. A. is planned for Thursday evening at the school house. Election of officers for the new year will be held. In order that members may attend the formal dedication of the new library, the meeting will open at 7:15 o'clock and close early.

EARLY RESIDENTS OF SANTA ANA INTERVIEWED TO CLEAR UP MYSTERY OF BARRED CELL

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

Following his investigations in history of old buildings in Santa Ana, made as a member of the Orange county research workers of SERA, H. J. Gillingham interviewed many early residents of Santa Ana, hoping to secure more definite information regarding the mysterious basement described yesterday in a Register article.

Readers will remember that this basement extended directly under the pavement of the 100 block of East Fourth street, and is part of the old Bruner building which stands there.

In seeking information regarding the cells with their barred doors, and the arched brick ceiling, Gillingham approached various old timers with his questions regarding the possible use of the basement as a jail.

George Peters declared that the basement was never used as a jail but was the site of a saloon maintained by John Killingerberger, an opinion in which E. P. Stafford concurred. Max Reinhaus, one of the early merchants here, maintains that Killingerberger's saloon was in Anaheim, and that the basement was used by the city for a limited time as a jail.

Budge Lacy of the sheriff's office was too young at the time to know definitely, but recalls that he heard that the basement was used as a saloon, but also had served the city as a jail. Adolph Butz, owner of Third and Bush street property adjoining the Bruner property, substantiates Lacy's recollections by saying that while it was a saloon, it also served as a jail upon occasions in boom days, when the regular jail was overcrowded.

Dr. L. L. Whitson's recollections are more picturesque, for he recalls a stirring incident when City Marshal Nichols made an arrest in the basement saloon, and when bringing his prisoner up the stairs was assaulted by the latter's friends and knocked down.

Thus opinions are offered pro and con. Mrs. Robert Ashby, SERA project supervisor, has suggested that early residents may like to substantiate such information as has been secured. In line with the work of her department, she has asked that owners of old documents and records, permit research workers an opportunity to study such material in order to complete the project. Anyone having such records or documents and willing to co-operate with the workers, may reach Mrs. Ashby at her headquarters in Julia Lathrop school by telephoning 4888.

In seeking data regarding the Bruner building, many interesting facts came to light. For instance the first floor of the building was used about 1882 as a reading room for Santa Ana urchins that used to peep through the high board fence to watch the inmates breaking rocks. History does not say what use was made of the broken rock. But there is a tale extant of an intoxicated prisoner setting the jail afire one night and almost perishing in his smoldering bedclothes before the fire was under control. This led the city to build a substantial brick jail later replaced by a firehall which was in use for that purpose until only a few years ago.

One of the stories of the first wooden jail regards Jim Layman one of the city's early financiers, who built the towering brick home at Sixth and Birch streets, once considered the city's finest residence, later dubbed "Layman's Folly."

Layman, among various business interests, owned a saloon, and one night after an over indulgence in ORANGE, April 24.—With but eight days intervening before the annual May day celebration, members of committees under the direction of Walter Wiener are rapidly completing details for the event. A hobby show under the direction of E. E. Campbell, promises to be one of the interesting events of the day.

Large crowds are expected to be

BIG CONTEST FOR CARRIER BOYS TO END

With only a week remaining in the Register $300 popularity contest for carrier boys, both city and suburban carriers were fighting hard today to earn votes and places at the top of the list before April 30, when the big contest closes.

Standings of the carriers in the contest, which appear elsewhere in The Register today, will not be published again until the end of the contest, it was announced by Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin.

Every boy was excited and anxious as the end of the contest approaches, each of the carriers exerting every effort to be among the 18 winners in each division. One hundred and twenty-eight determined boys are making every effort to be a winner.

Every boy really will be a winner. Circulation Manager Conklin pointed out, for he receives cash for each new subscription he turns in as his regular commission. Carriers receive votes by securing new subscriptions, collecting from subscribers and increasing their routes.

The contest is proving beneficial to the carriers in other ways other than in cash benefits, for they are learning to work hard and to compete on a friendly basis.

In attendance at the parade, and the sports and games to be staged during the day. A street dance in the plaza is one of the attractions offered for the evening.

STUDENTS TO BE IN CHARGE OF SERVICE

A deputation team composed of La Verne College students, will present a program at the Church of the Brethren, Ross and Camille streets, Sunday morning, April 28, it was announced today by Fred Butterbaugh, student minister.

The young people of the church will entertain the deputation team in the church basement with a potluck dinner, others being welcome, it was stated.

In the evening, the Rev. Harlan Brooks, professor of religious education at La Verne college, and a returning missionary to India, will present an illustrated lecture on India.

Tea for Family Group Honors Visitor from New Zealand

Bringing together an intimate family group, Mrs. Herbert L. Smith entertained Sunday afternoon with a tea in her home, 414 Eastside avenue, in compliment to her great aunt, Mrs. Lavinia Edmond of New Zealand. Mrs. Edmond is making an extended stay in the Tustin home of her only sister, Mrs. Margaret Kelly, whom she had not seen for 50 years.

Mrs. Smith's cousin, Mrs. Dale Park, poured tea, presiding at a lace-spread table centered with a black bowl of Spanish iris, larkspur, Mexican daisies and sweet peas. Black holders held green tapers, and silver service was used. The hostess was assisted in serving by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clifford Miller, and by Mrs. Paul King.

Sycamore Past Grands Meet at Orange

Sycamore Past Noble Grands association held its April meeting in Orange, with Mrs. Eunice Reid as hostess in her ranch home on West Collins avenue. Spanish luncheon was served at tables set beneath an arbor on the grounds.

On the committee in charge were Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Minnie Foreman, Mrs. Josie Shoemaker and Mrs. Martha Taylor. Cards and sewing occupied the afternoon.

Present were Mesdames Inez Baker, Pauline Decker, Stella Henderson, Elizabeth Lavery, Bessie McDonald, Eunice Reid, Kate Rinsched, Fannie Rose, Josie Shoemaker, Bessie Stovall, Martha Taylor, Carolyn Putman, Elizabeth Price, Miss B. Pearl Nicholson and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Curtis. Two children, Barbara Wolf and La Verne Stovall completed the group.

Social Events of Navy Of Interest To Many in This City

Miss Barbara Jane Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Davis, 1615 North Broadway, and Miss Ruth Warner, daughter of the Wade Warners, 1116 South Ross street, were among members of Santa Ana's younger set who last night attended the navy ball given in Pacific Coast club, Long Beach, as a farewell before the departure of the fleet.

Invitation to the two popular members of Girls' Ebell society was extended recently to the reception which many Santa Anans attended, and which was given by Captain Farwell and his officers aboard the U. S. S. Chicago.

Motoring over to the naval base for this colorful event were many from this community, including Mrs. James Irvine and a group of young people.

Miss Barbara Jane Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Davis, 1615 North Broadway, and Miss Ruth Warner, daughter of the Wade Warners, 1116 South Ross street, were among members of Santa Ana's younger set who last night attended the navy ball given in Pacific Coast club, Long Beach, as a farewell before the departure of the fleet.

You and Your Friends

Mrs. Mary Peebles has returned to her home at Eagle Rock, concluding a few days' stay with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Barr, 1608 North Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wones have returned to their home, 820 Riverside avenue, from an Easter week-end visit with Mrs. Wones' brother, Jay Taylor and his family in Tulare. On their way north they stopped in Monrovia for Mrs. Wones' mother, Mrs. Martin V. Taylor, who had been visiting her brother, S. B. Elliott. Mrs. Taylor accompanied them to Tulare returning with them to her Riverside home.

The Misses Berenice and Eleanor Taylor, who spent the past week-end with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor of El Toro, have returned to the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Marvin V. Taylor, and resumed their studies after the spring vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mickie, 1716 West Seventeenth street, have as guests this week, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Loring Jr., of Long Beach. Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Reyer, 2324 North Broadway, made a recent trip to San Diego and Agua Caliente, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. sister-in-law, Mrs. Edna Pique and sons, John and Donald Pique, of Denver, Colo., who are at Long Beach for a two months' stay.

Royal Neighbors

Preceded by a covered-dish dinner, a meeting of Magnolia camp R. N. A., was held Monday night in Knights of Pythias hall. Drill team members spent the evening practicing in preparation for participation in the convention which opened today in Long Beach. Mrs. Lenore Farmer, orator, conducted a business meeting during which announcement was made of a meeting of Magnolia circle to be held Thursday in the home of Mrs. Charles Tibbets, 2135 North Main street. Covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Juveniles' Party. Juveniles of Magnolia camp, R.N.A., took part in an Easter egg hunt Saturday afternoon on the grounds of the Garden Grove home of Mrs. Goldie Cornett. Games preceded the egg hunt. Winners, prepared over an open fireplace, were served with buns. Children in the group were Bettye Hinton, Betty Pleis, Lila Marie Moore, Ladean Laub, Diane Hess, Marlene Hess, Dawn Cornett, Corine Cornett, Beverly Manderscheid, Carol Jean Hammett, Betty Manderscheid, Jack Nelson, Emmett Garris, James Blackie, Wilbur Blackwell, Ronald Blackwell, Donald Evans, Vernon Laub. Adults in the group had planned the event. They included Mesdames Goldie Cornett, Gertrude Birt, Clara Blackie, Lenore Farmer, Pearl Laub, Gilmer Laub, Laura Dunlap, Lola Kimball and Miss Nell Laub.

Sorority Group Names Officers to Function Next Year

Miss Doris Hunt and Miss Viva Flekas last night received Sigma Beta Chi sorority members and a few guests, in their home, 523 East Pine street, where party features of the evening were preceded by a business interval with election of officers.

Miss Hunt, who has served as president this year, was unanimously returned to that office, and will serve with Miss Clara Goeman, vice president, and Miss Flekas, secretary-treasurer. Plans were made for a riding party next Sunday morning at 7 o'clock when members will meet at Parkmouth stables and enjoy horseback riding through the hills surrounding Irvine park.

Miss Lucille Dunn extended invitation for the sorority to meet with her on May 7, when she will entertain in the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles J. Leimer, Tustin.

Social features of the evening included games and contests in which prizes were awarded the Misses Dorothy Hackleton, Mary O'Connell, Lois Lighthall, scoring high, and Clara Goeman, low.

Miss Hunt and Miss Flekas had used charming flowers in decorations, and these harmonized with the green and white appointments for serving refreshments, buffet style. At this time they presented a flower corsage to each of the guests.

Two Celebrities Share Honors at Dinner

Birthday anniversaries of Cecil Suddaby and Charles Sauers were celebrated recently with a four-course dinner in the home of Mrs. Suddaby's mother, Mrs. Margaret Suddaby, Lemon Heights.

Easter decorations and a centerpiece of spring flowers, adorned the table. Gifts were presented to the two honor guests.

Those present, other than the hostess, were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Suddaby, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sauers, Santa Ana; Mrs. Paul Owens and daughter, Pauline, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Suddaby, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sauers and son, John Vernon, of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Koepsel and son, Vernon, Lemon Heights.

Basketball Star Weds "Miss Chicago" in This City

A wedding of recent date occurring in this city when Miss Rosemary Dolan of Chicago became the bride of Carl Leslie Shy of Ocean Park, will be of special interest to former students at University of California at Los Angeles. For Carl Leslie Shy was a U. C. L. A. basketball star and in 1930 was chosen for the All-American basketball team. He is now employed in the technical department at Universal City.

The marriage was an early evening event in the home of Charles L. Barkdull and his sister, Mrs. Josephine Marshall, 1242 South Ross street, and was solemnized by the Rev. George Darius Daman of Ocean Park.

Miss Dolan, who was "Miss Chicago" in 1930, was smartly attired in black and white, the costume she had chosen for honeymoon travel. Miss Beatrice Lee, of Hollywood, was her maid of honor and Mr. Shy was attended by his brother, Hugh Willard, an executive in the Los Angeles office of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

After an automobile honeymoon spent in the Southland, Mr. and Mrs. Shy will make their home in Hollywood.

Egg Hunt Takes Place At Day Nursery

Ebell Day Nursery, 610 Garfield street, was scene of an annual event Saturday afternoon when an Easter egg hunt was enjoyed by a group of children. Mrs. W. Flockton, supervising matron, had planned the affair, which followed a noon luncheon.

Wilton Eagenkopp observed a custom which he has been following for the past five years, collecting many large eggs which were included in the treasure sought by the children at the nursery.

In the group were Kay Frances Poor, Donald Phillips, Howard Elkins, Leonard Morilla, Frank Cliff Jr., Barbara Hanson, Harry Monroe, Reginald Whitley.

Auxiliary Members Work on Quilt

Spending the afternoon working on a quilt, members of Women's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical union were guests Monday in the home of Mrs. Lawrence, 1022 Halliday street.

In the group were the hostess, mother, Mrs. J. A. Cubley of Corona, Mesdames J. W. Parkinson, J. H. Patison, W. H. Fields, Carl Fisher, Mabel Sherwood, Dean Lawrence, E. E. Stillwell and the hostess, Mrs. Lawrence.

The auxiliary's birthday anniversary will be celebrated at the next business meeting to be held Monday, May 13, at 7:30 p. m. at Weber's bakery. Mrs. Stillwell will be hostess. Election of officers will take place.

Santa Anans Entertain Denison University Graduates

Assembling a group of Denison University graduates, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Evan Owings were hosts at a dinner party Monday evening in their home, 1018 Spurgeon street. Before arriving in this city to become pastor of First Baptist church, the Rev. Mr. Owings had a pastorate in Granville, Ohio, where the university is located.

The evening was spent in reminiscing, and in learning of the paths that members of the group have followed since completion of their college studies. Robert Swift, who left this week for a stay in the east, told of some of his experiences as a mining engineer in Chile, where he has been engaged in his profession for the past six years. He will return to South America in the summer.

Mrs. Owings served dinner at tables lighted with yellow tapers. Easter lilies, iris and other flowers decorated the rooms.

Present were Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cary, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brink, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mayes, Long Beach, and Robert Swift, South America, with the hosts, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Owings and their daughter and son, Miss Elaine and Harry Owings Jr. Clifford Cary came here recently from Chicago to become associated with the Y. M. C. A. in Los Angeles.

Santa Ana Traveler is To Visit In European Countries

When the Panama Pacific liner Pennsylvania sails Monday morning from Los Angeles harbor, among the passengers aboard to enjoy the trip through Panama Canal to New York City will be Mrs. Sophie Tiller, 2230 North Main street, who is planning an interesting European tour.

Mrs. Tiller leaves Sunday for the harbor where she will board the vessel on the first stage of her summer travels. She is anticipating a day in Cuba and will have three days in New York City before departing on the Hamburg-American liner "Hamburg" for Europe. She will travel with a conducted party which plans to visit six countries, England, Ireland, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France.

In Germany, Mrs. Tiller will visit her birthplace, Heringsdorf, for the first time since she left with her parents when she was but a year old. She has many relatives there whom she will visit and will meet for the first time. Her return to California will not be by way of the canal, as she expects to land in New York and make the trip home overland. Since completing her travel plans, Mrs. Tiller has been complimented by her friends at a series of farewell dinners and bon voyage parties.

Announcement was made that reservations must be made for the next meeting, to be held Tuesday, May 23 at 12:30 p. m. at Hotel Laguna, where luncheon will be served.

Two Outdoor Events Shared by Group

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carr were hosts at an Easter breakfast Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock in the garden of their home, 1219 West Highland street.

Pink and lavender stocks and sweet peas centered tables where orange juice, hot cakes, sausage, eggs and coffee were served. The radio had been brought outdoors to provide music for the occasion. The group went to Anaheim park in the afternoon, remaining for a picnic supper in the evening.

Participants in the event were Mr. and Mrs. Carr and their two daughters, the Misses Betty Jean and Iva Louise Carr; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lockhart, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lunderman, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Houser and daughter, Delores, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Deway Brown and daughter, Marjorie Helen Brown, Tustin.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Dinner

2 tablespoons fruit cocktail
Vegetable plate:
1/2 cup cooked mashed turnip
1/2 cup cooked string beans
2 young carrots, cooked and sliced

1/2 small baked potato
2 teaspoons butter to dress all vegetables

1 square inch dairy cheese (yellow)
2 un buttered saltines with cheese
Black coffee or clear tea, no sugar

Calory total—400.
Quantities for the vegetable plate will satisfy family appetites if you care to add a small omelette, or possibly macaroni and cheese in place of the baked potato. The cookie and cracker dessert will please some of the family, not all, so plan one of their favorite desserts, and give them a choice of beverages.

The use of a fruit jelly powder in making up fruit cocktail in quantity is almost a life saver in my estimation. You know, fruit cocktail must be juicy to be good, and have a richness of liquid body not possible unless a good deal of sugar is used, and that we are trying to get away from. Try this combination, you'll like its flavor and cool color.

1 box lime jelly powder dissolved in
4 cups water
Juice of 2 lemons and 2 oranges
4 ripe apples, finely diced
1 No. 2 1/2 can sliced pineapple, diced

1 can grapefruit with juice
Mix and chill for several hours before serving. Quantities will last almost a week.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Macaroni Salad
2/3 cup cut macaroni (raw)
2 pimientos, chopped fine
1 small bunch green onions, chopped

1 fat can ripe olive mince
1/2 cup sweet pickle relish
Salt, pepper and dash of cayenne
3 hard cooked eggs
1 cup mayonnaise
Lettuce and sliced tomatoes to garnish

Cook macaroni until tender, drain, rinse in hot water, then in cold to blanch. Combine with all ingredients but mayonnaise, lettuce and tomatoes. Place in refrigerator to chill until serving time. Fill on lettuce leaves, dress generously with half of the mayonnaise (mix other half cup with macaroni just before putting on plate) and garnish with slices of tomato.

My preference in using the eggs, would be to quarter them and use with tomato slices as a garnish... more appeal to the eye.

Spiced Tongue
1 large or 2 small beef tongues
1 No. 2 1/2 can tomatoes
1 cup stock from tongue
1/4 cup butter
1 large onion, chopped fine
1/2 cup vinegar
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon each, whole cloves and cinnamon, tied in a bag.

Boil tongue 30 minutes, drain and scrub well, put back in clear hot salted water and cook until tender but not what you'd call well cooked. Rinse in cold water, strip off skin and put tongue in a baking dish. Mix and heat all ingredients, pour over the tongue, drop in spice bag, cover and cook in slow oven 3 hours, basting or turning tongue frequently. Strain the sauce for gravy, thickening if needed.

Thursday: carrot Cutlets, a new way to do this useful vegetable. Monte Carlo Chicken, one of the pleasant ways to remodel an old hen.

$400 CONTEST ANNOUNCED ON KREG TONIGHT

Announcing a cash prize contest in which 207 prizes totaling $400 will be given away for the best letters on the subject: "What Will Speed Recovery," tonight's broadcast of the "American Family Robinson" from KREG at 8:45 will be of unusual interest as well as humorously dealing with the "problem of how prospective bridegrooms should manage the remainder of the species."

Program officials stated that rules of the contest are simple. All that is required is a letter addressed to the "American Family Robinson" in care of KREG of not over 250 words. A five word letter has as much chance of winning the first prize of $100 in cash as a 250 word letter. Anyone may enter the contest.

In addition to the contest, photographs of the "American Family Robinson" will be sent to those who ask for them, without charge.

Listeners to this entertaining and human feature are advised that it will be broadcast on the following schedule: April 24, 25, 30, May 2, 7, 15, 16 and thereafter each Tuesday. All broadcasts will be at 8:45 p.m.

HUNTER PROGRAM ON KREG THIS EVENING

Tonight's presentation by the T. S. Hunter Oil company, distributors of "Acme" gasoline, on KREG at 8:45, will again feature march and dance tempos with music by famous handmasters and composers.

"The National Emblem March," Bagby; "I Love a Parade" and "Valencia" as played by King's band; "Song of India" and "Soon" by Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians will be included.

The T. S. Hunter presentations for "Acme," a one hundred per cent Orange county product, are scheduled each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the same hour.

RADIO FEATURES

Time References Are Pacific Standard Time

John Charles Thomas, famous American baritone, will return to the air as the star of a new radio dramatic serial with music known as "Home on the Range," in which he will both sing and act over National Broadcasting Company networks, including KFI, beginning at 6:45 tonight.

A series of six Wednesday night broadcasts on "The United States and World Affairs," including such noted speakers as Professor Philip C. Jessup, Bruce Bliven, editor of the New Republic; Walter Lippmann, editor and commentator, and Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, will be heard over an NBC network including KFI beginning at 8:45 tonight. Professor Jessup, associate in international law at Columbia University and chairman of the advisory board of the Foreign Affairs Forum, will be the first speaker.

April—a month of destiny—for as such will this month be revealed on tonight's broadcast of "Strange As It Seems" over KHI at 7:45 when "The Month of Wars," in dramatized form, offers a review of historic high spots in the nation's military history. "Living Jewels" is the title of the second episode to be offered.

With the novelist Rupert Hughes as master of ceremonies and guest stars from the studios and bands of the West Coast, Commander-in-Chief Volney P. Mooney of the Disabled American Veterans will speak over KFI at 8:30 tonight in the annual radio appeal by the group.

Bertall Thorvaldsen, famed as the sculptor of "The Christus" and "The Lion of Lucerne," will tonight be eulogized on the "Tapestries of Life" program when a gripping dramatization of his life, entitled, "The Man Who Rode a Statue," is presented over KHI from 9:15 to 9:45.

THURSDAY
The manner in which Mrs. Roosevelt's radio funds are spent will be dramatically reviewed in a broadcast over KHI at 1:30 p. m. Thursday. The money goes to American Friends Service Committee, Quaker organization.

From Hannibal, Missouri, the boyhood home of the famed humorist, the official ceremonies attending the opening of the Mark Twain Centennial Museum, will be broadcast by KHI at 1:30 p. m. Thursday. The half hour will include the appearance of Clara Clemens Gabriellowitch, daughter of the noted author, and wife of the conductor- pianist, Ossip Gabrilowitch; also, the playing of an orchestra, owned and used by Twain.

KREG NOTES

Tonight's Ionizer health message will be broadcast from KREG at 7:30.

Educator To Talk From Station KREG

"Current Trends in the Scheduling of Teachers' Salaries" is the particularly interesting topic of tomorrow's U.S.C. broadcast to be made by Dr. Osman R. Hull, professor of education at the University of Southern California, from KREG at 2:15 p. m.

This broadcast should be of special interest to all teachers and educators, it was stated, and is another in the series of U.S.C. broadcasts made daily except Saturdays and Sundays from KREG at the same hour.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, April 24.—Mrs. A. W. Ahl, of Lewisville, Minn., is the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Ahl, 225 South Glassell street.

Girl Scout troop No. 9, composed of girls in the sixth grade, met in the city hall basement recently for an Easter egg hunt and a covered dish luncheon. Miss Helen Meyer, leader of the troop, was in charge of the egg hunt, while members of the Golden Eagle Patrol supervised the luncheon. Games were played under the direction of Miss Carolyn Hoag. More than 15 members were present. Members of troop No. 8 under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Nelson, assisted by Miss Barbara Hallman, enjoyed a hike to the Irvine park Saturday. They also staged an Easter egg hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Groat, Fairhaven avenue, are enjoying a vacation at Yosemite.

ORANGE, April 24.—The program for the dedication May 1 of the recently completed Orange Union High school stadium, built as a SERA project at a cost of $45,000, was announced this morning by A. Haven Smith, principal of the school. The stadium will seat 1600 persons. The bleachers are of reinforced concrete.

Quarters underneath the bleachers provide dressing rooms, lockers and rooms for visiting athletes. Space also has been provided for play rooms in rainy weather. The structure was designed by L. A. Thomas, architect, Paul Jeffers, starved as the structural engineer and the work was supervised by State Inspector C. A. MacLaren.

The program at the stadium will open at 1:30 p. m. and it has been planned as a part of the annual May day celebration here. A grand entrance of those to take part in the program, about 400 in number will open the event and the march will be staged to music furnished by the SERA band. A flag raising ceremony will follow closing with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

The high school glee clubs will be presented in two selections, including the principal address of the afternoon to be given by Dr. Frederick Woolner of the University of California at Los Angeles. Girls of high school will give an exhibition of various athletic activities, with 350 participating. Costumes for this portion of the program are to be colorful and picturesque, it was announced.

One of the outstanding features of the program is to be a demonstration of fencing by students of the University of Southern California, this institution also presenting a tumbling act and an exhibition of archery.

The new series of adult education broadcasts on lip reading from KREG each Wednesday, will not be on the air again during this term of the adult education classes, it was announced by Mrs. Golden Weston, director. Instead, Mrs. Ellen Smith, instructor in home hygiene and the care of the sick will be heard at 6 p. m. on Wednesdays, beginning tonight at that hour.

Miss Bartlett will be unable to continue due to an extensive lecture series, taking her to various parts of the state.

The new series of adult education broadcasts for Wednesday promises to be of general interest also and tonight's discussion will explain the purpose of the home hygiene class and illustrate particular technique developed in class study. The series will continue during the month of May each Wednesday at the same hour.

MALCOLM REID TO SING THIS EVENING

Returning to KREG after a vacation of several weeks, part of which was devoted to further study, J. Malcolm Reid, popular vocalist who pleased a large number of listeners with his delightful programs of ballads will be heard again tonight at 6:15 in the first of a new series of Wednesday broadcasts to be scheduled each Wednesday at that hour and each Saturday at 8 p. m.

His selection of songs for tonight will include "You Have Taken My Heart," "I Woke Up Too Soon," "With Every Breath I Take" and "Me Without You."

Reid is a student of the same teacher who started Donald Novis on his way to fame and his voice has been highly complimented by numerous critics.

OLD FAVORITES TONIGHT

Songs by the Macon quartet, Bob Nichols and Riley Puckett will revive memories of yesterday in tonight's presentation of "De Luxe Harmonies" on KREG at 8:15, a presentation of the De Luxe Auto Paint and Fender shop.

Old timers will remember "In the shade of the Old Apple Tree," "Uncle Joe," "My Blue Ridge Mountain Queen" and other songs to be offered by these old time artists tonight.

"De Luxe Harmonies," featuring favorite old songs and tunes, are scheduled each Wednesday at the same hour.

ORANGE FOR DEDICATION OF NEW STADIUM

BRINGING a new radio commentator to the microphone, this week's broadcast of Grayco's "Motion Picture Column of the Air" will present Lou Creveling at 7:15 tonight on KREG with an interesting account of what's going on in Hollywood, a presentation of Hugh J. Lowe, Grayco dealer in Santa Ana.

Creveling's "radio column" will include the stories of Allison Swarth's parrot and how it lost a job as an actor by saying the right thing at the wrong time, causing embarrassing situations to say the least; motion pictures having the largest box office receipts of all time; a brief biography of Ginger Rogers and why she sidetracked a career as a school teacher to become a star; a Hollywood incident that surpassed that of the Dionne quintuplets; facts and financial figures about Hollywood that are anything but dry or uninteresting; Ramon Novarro's ambition as a director and producer, and other highlights of public interest.

Lou Creveling will be heard each Wednesday at the same hour.

HOME HYGIENE TO BE SUBJECT OF BROADCAST

Miss Ruth Bartlett, who has given a large number of interesting educational broadcasts on lip reading from KREG each Wednesday, will not be on the air again during this term of the adult education classes, it was announced by Mrs. Golden Weston, director. Instead, Mrs. Ellen Smith, instructor in home hygiene and the care of the sick will be heard at 6 p. m. on Wednesdays, beginning tonight at that hour.

Miss Bartlett will be unable to continue due to an extensive lecture series, taking her to various parts of the state.

THE TINYMITES

As Duncy raced across the ground the latters quickly gathered round and tried to stop the hippo but their efforts were in vain. "Tuna Scouty cried: 'Oh, he's so fat, he can't keep racing on like that, I'm sure that in his tummy he is going to get a pain.' " "I hope he gets it right away," yelled Duncy. "Maybe this is play to him, but I don't like it. I will run until I drop." And then he saw a group of trees. "Ah, now I'll get away, with ease," he shouted to the bunch. "The trees will make the hippo stop."

They shortly found that he was right. It really was a funny sight to see the hippo try to wiggle through the group of trees. He tugged away till Duncy said, "Hey, fat, why don't you use your head? You simply can't get through the group of trees."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

The depression isn't over just because some things are on the mend.

through, because it's much too tight a squeeze. "The least then proved a real good sport. He stood and let out on cloud snort, then turned and went back to his cage. Brave Scouty latched the door. As Duncy quickly joined the crowd, one fatty said, "You should feel proud. Your act was very funny and it made all of us roar." "Don't take them very long to stand them up and make them strong," Now, Goldy said, "We're going to see another thrilling sight."

Some little monkeys were set free, and just as quickly as could be they raced up to the bars and started whirling round and round. "Look out," yelled Coppy, "Don't get smart, or you will tear your tails apart. If you miss just one bar, you'll take a flop upon the ground."

Hindu Mystic In Talk at Laguna

Seen and the Unseen," the Indian mystic told his listeners that reality there is nothing wrong with the creation and that ever ill has befallen mankind they have been the result of erroneous beliefs and the acceptance of erroneous standards. In this connection the speaker suggested that more thought be given to spiritual values and to the understanding of the workings of the immortal and ever present spiritual which governs the universe every manifestation.

He pointed out that unless there is a great spiritual awakening among the nations, another war will again lay its curse upon Europe.

NEW WRITER AT LAGUNA BEACH, April 24.—With that of Laguna Beach another name has been added today to growing list of writers making Laguna Beach their permanent home. In private life is Mrs. R. J. Welch. She and husband have leased a house on the cliffs, which they expect to move into on May 1. Mrs. Welch has completed two novels which are expected to be ready for publication. Negotiations are ready under way for the motion picture rights of one of them. She also has written a number of short stories and done some newspaper work. Mr. Welch is connected with the Laguna cleaner

I broke the thread and . . . moved it."

Happ said slowly, "Why did you pick on last night as the night to make this test, Cynthia?"

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AGAIN MAKES A "TEN-STRIKE"

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce is taking a very wise position in relation to other organizations of like character, national, state and county.

As we understand it, the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has withdrawn its affiliation from the national chamber and from the state organization.

We have wondered sometimes, how it was possible for any vital relation to exist between these organizations, when the programs of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in many respects, would not be supported at all by a majority of a local organization. The same statement of fact can be made in respect to the state.

Yet, when the announcements are made as to the attitude of the United States Chamber of Commerce or the state group, it assumes to speak for all the local organizations and in a sense has a right to do so with those who acknowledge affiliations.

In reality, the local chamber of commerce has practically no influence with the larger body and it knows little about what is happening until it receives its program.

To a lesser degree, this is true of the Associated Chambers of Commerce. Frequently there are organized small groups who come before the Associated Chambers, or who may be parts of it, and get resolutions through the chamber, which, on the face of it, appears very right and certainly is plausible, and yet, if all the facts are known that are behind it, there would be serious objection to it.

The complete facts are only discovered afterwards. Or, it may be that even if all the facts are known, and objections made, a majority of the Associated Chambers may have interests that entirely conflict with other groups.

And yet, by a resolution passed, it appears to commit the local organization. This is entirely unfair and wrong.

We have often observed this condition. Sometimes we have been amazed over the fact that there has been no local protest because of the incongruous condition which was the result of such resolutions, that are entirely out of harmony with the interests of Santa Ana and other cities.

Santa Ana's Chamber of Commerce is correct in all these matters, first, through its withdrawal from affiliation with the United States Chamber and the State Chamber, and now, by making declaration that it did not propose to be bound by any action of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, unless the local chamber has actually voted for it.

We want to again congratulate the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce upon the wisdom of this course. The truth is that the chamber of commerce is organized, as an institution, for the promotion of manufacturing, commercial and economic interests.

Many people, in their anxiety to advance things politically, aim to get various organizations to pass resolutions favoring their ideas. And in doing this frequently the organization, organized for entirely different purposes, is led far afield from its original purpose and begins to defeat its real aim. Our local chamber of commerce seems determined to adhere to the purposes for which a chamber of commerce exists, and on those things we can all unite.

On many other matters we may seriously differ, as we do on political phases. The chamber of commerce very clearly recognizes that we are willing, on commercial matters, and economic and business affairs, where unity is desired, to let the organization speak for the whole group.

But on political activity, where programs of citizenship, statecraft, and the future of society are involved, it cannot speak for the whole and should not attempt to do so.

We are happy to note that the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce is leading off in so wise a direction.

SPECIAL AND DISCRIMINATORY TAXES BLOW TO CONSUMER

There are some people who believe bigness, in itself, is wrong.

Some of our national leaders believe that the way to prosperity is to split steel companies, textile industries, aluminum companies and every other big concern into constituent elements, into smaller institutions.

We are not among that group. We believe that large institutions can defeat the purposes of good government, or tend to do so, and so can smaller ones. Both, on the other hand, can carry out the most laudable ideals in the world.

If the object that is being achieved is the creation of monopoly and the raising of prices, the government should step in, in the interests of society, to protect the consumer from the machinations of the wrong-doer.

If, however, the object that is being achieved is the cheapness of unit cost, which comes from mass production, so that the consumer is benefited, the government, instead of penalizing, should encourage such effort.

The people themselves can look around them and note clearly just which institutions are aiding in the reduction of costs, by their larger volume of business, and those which are adding to the costs, by virtue of the creation of a monopoly or a near monopoly.

A tax upon institutions which are achieving the ends for the consumer, because of their size, is really a tax on the consumer himself. In fact, a discriminatory tax, or a special tax laid upon any particular group, which does not apply to all those engaged in the same line of business, is an unjust tax and is attempting, by the process of taxation, not to aid, but to handicap a man in his business.

President Theodore Roosevelt at one time said that if the cards weren't "stacked against him," he was always willing to abide by the deal. Using the legislature to pass discriminatory legislation is an attempt to "stack the cards" against those at whom the taxation is leveled.

The tendency is constantly toward amalgamation. We have seen it in our newspaper business.

We can carry advertising at less cost to the merchant, because of the volume of our business, than we could possibly do if we had only a fraction of such business.

Any handicap, such as a special tax placed upon us, for doing this, which must result in an increased cost to the merchant, will finally find its way to the consumer, for the consumer pays the cost, in the last analysis.

The buyer pays the expenses. It is to the interest of all that those expenses be as small as possible.

THE PEOPLE FOUND HIM OUT

Propaganda minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, whose duty it is to censor German newspapers, now discovers that he can't make people read his papers. He can print what he likes, and he does print what he likes, but the Germans are not reading it to the extent that they once were.

In referring to rumors and gossip circulating throughout Germany, he admits the following in the columns of his own newspaper.

"The growth of the vocal newspaper (meaning gossip) tells us that the newspaper and the reader have drawn apart and newspapers are no longer fulfilling their original mission.

"Life no longer flows through the pages of our papers like a river, but like a carefully controlled rivulet.

"Newspapers are losing ground because they satisfy only 40 per cent of the readers' curiosity.

"The reader wants to know more about the inner relationship of things that affect his life. Our newspapers, however, give no answer to these questions. The published word no longer has its former effect. The public has become an 'Esel,' (variously translated as a mule, jackass or a donkey), towards the press."

These are frank words to use in regard to a situation over which he has complete control. Goebbels can undoubtedly recall the thrill he first experienced when he put falsehoods into the columns of honest newspapers and found that the public regarded it as the truth.

Unfortunately for him and his kind, the public has, in a few months, found out that the truth is not being published and despite the suspension of a thousand daily papers the circulation of the remaining ones is steadily falling. The "vocal press," as he terms it, is in control.

As the propagandist points out in another part of his diatribe against the unprinted newspaper, "it is not responsible." The printed press is responsible. To which it might be well to add, "true, if the persons publishing it are personally responsible." But since the German publishers are responsible to no one but Herr Goebbels they are free of responsibility so long as they please him.

Well might Goebbels regret that the people place but little faith in his censored and inspired publication. Facts have a way of coming to light that have from time immemorial plagued those who wanted to keep them hidden. And inspired facts have a way of being called by that short and ugly word of "lies."

Having discovered that people no longer believe him, the next thing in order will be for the "Herr Director of Official Lies" to surrender his post unless he wishes to aspire to the honor now held by the renowned Baron von Munchausen, the present unchallenged "King of all Liars."

Militant For Peace

Older, sager folk probably can offer sound advice about students' anti-war strikes. The strike may be defined as a form of war. The mass emotionalism that impels the antiwar strike may be too nearly that on which propaganda can play for war as well as peace. Strikes too often are taken advantage of by Communists; antiwar strikers thus run the risk of exposing their cause to charges of Communism.

The strike through which some 150,000 college students have just declared sentiments of an increasing section of American youth showed to some extent these weaknesses. But on the whole the demonstrations were conducted in a manner that can reflect no great discredit on the antiwar movement.

Generally speaking, the student strike was attended by a degree of official tolerance that speaks well for the discretion of educational and law enforcement authorities. Free expression of opinion is not only one of the privileges of democracy but one of its most dependable safeguards. Suppression was attempted in comparatively few instances.

Even among critics of this method of expressing peace purposes the caliber of many of the student meetings must command respect. Prof. Albert Einstein addressed the gathering at Princeton University. Senator James P. Pope spoke to an audience of 300 at Yale. Norman Thomas and others of note added to the thoughtfulness of the nation-wide demonstration.

It still can be said that there are better ways of carrying out the peace ideal than by assuming the defiant attitude of the strike. But antiwar demonstrations should not be out of place in a Christian nation. Rather they should be regularized and should include sober and sincere observance not only of students' antipathy to war but of all the people's desire for continued peace. Possibly the leaders of thought who addressed student gatherings could help to elevate the expression of antiwar sentiment to a plane where its value could be doubted by no one.

Fame Kids 'Em Along

There is an aspect both amusing and pathetic about Mr. Clarence Darrow's birthday pronouncement on the state of the known world. From the mellowed perspective of 78 years, he looks upon it as a fairly good world—he has a few changes to suggest, but is not sure as to exactly how they will come about. Yet the whole condescending assurance of his document reveals the absurdity into which fame has betrayed him, and his own pathetic belief that fame's gift is valid. Fame gained in one special field had given him a national audience, no matter what he discusses. And fame has convinced him that because he has an audience, anything that he says has a weight comparable with the number of his auditors.

AN ADDRESS TO A BASS

Delivered by a man who caught one with a dollar bill in its mouth.

If I had been seeking for treasure,
I might have received a mild thrill
On the day that I found
That you carried around
A badly chewed one-dollar bill.
A dollar today is worth saving,
One's chances to find one are few,
But I cannot help wish,
Little underweight fish,
That you'd coughed up a sawbuck or two.

Beyond doubt you have found in the river,
Or deep in some derelict's hold,
While you swam idly by,
Some goodly supply
Of currency, jewels or gold.
Such wealth would come in very handy
Could one only locate the stuff
In the depths of the sea;
Quite delighted I'd be,
But a one-dollar bill's not enough.

Could I follow your perigrinations
As you paddle about in the tide,
And learn where you've stored
Your submarine hoard,
I'd be perfectly glad to divide.
It seems to me dreadfully tragic
That none of this cash can be spent.
We both know it's there,
But you only know where,
So nobody gains one red cent.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

ETHICS IN ECONOMICS

The other day I read a singularly moving appeal to American youth and to American leadership to find and follow sound ethical ideals in the present swirl of effort towards economic reconstruction.

Here are six ideals that were suggested:

(1) The supremacy of human beings in the social order, with institutions and machines kept always as means to the end of human enrichment.

(2) The solidarity of the human family, with consistent opposition to the innumerable forces now driving so much of humanity back to a primitive sort of narrow tribalism.

(3) The supremacy of the common good, with self-interest frowned upon when it runs counter to the common good.

(4) Equal rights for all, the right to be well-born, the right to a home, the right to play, the right to an adequate education.

(5) Cooperation as the only workable law of progress in this intricate and interdependent age.

(6) An active good-will instead of force as the social bond.

There is a parson-like flavor to all this that may bring a smile to the face of many a "practical" man, but this set of six ethical ideals may be more practical than the practical man's credo of action.

Disraeli may not have been so far wrong when he defined the practical man as the man who insists upon making over again all the mistakes of his ancestors.

I am convinced that in this age of mass production these six ethical principles are the soundest of sound business, the only principles upon which capitalism can be intelligently modernized. Some day I shall argue in more detail why these principles are sound economics as well as sound ethics.

"HE'S NERVOUS"

Usually when a teacher or parent says that a child is nervous he means that the child is ill adjusted, that he is failing at home or in school. Sometimes we find that such children are not nervous at all, far from it. Their nervous systems are dulled and their reactions are slow and inaccurate. The children are ill.

Other children who are nervous are not ill, but ill adjusted. Either they have been unable to hold their minds to the task in hand or because of unusual speed they have overlooked the essentials. There are all sorts of nervous children between these two sorts. Some of them, as I have said, are ill. The rest need to be adjusted to home and school, or, more likely, home and school must be adjusted to them.

Nervousness is not a disease. The race horse is nervous, the genius is nervous, the successful leader in any trade or profession is highly nervous. All successful undertakings are the product of highly sensitive nervous organization that has functioned beautifully. Instead of worrying about children being nervous we ought to rejoice that they are possessed of sensitive nerves and proceed to train them to healthy activity.

All children need the foods that nourish the nerves. Usually we find the failing, nervous child is undernourished. He refuses food. He refuses the extra rest and sleep prescribed for him. He resents restraint more than other children do and protests against anything that holds him still for more than a minute. Yet this child needs extra food, extra rest, extra sleep, adjusted school programs and provision for his play in the open air with the right sort of companions. Scolding or punishing him only makes a bad matter worse.

The healthy, nervous child needs plenty of work and responsibility. The lad that is nicknamed Quicksilver needs to be harnessed in order that his energy can function and his nervous system be trained to habits of usefulness. He is the one who finishes his work first and looks around for something else and finds it to the annoyance of the teacher. He is the one who answers the question before the teacher can call the pupil's name. He speaks out in class, falls over somebody's feet, waves his hand with or without occasion, minds everybody's business, his own last of all. He is truly nervous. Adjust his program to his needs and instead of being a general nuisance he becomes a community benefactor.

This sort of child can take a great deal of detail from the teacher's mind. He can take attendance, take charge of material, check on supplies, guard the ventilation, manage traffic, attend to distribution and collection of clothing and belongings. He can open doors and station guards at rapid dismissals, he can be an assistant teacher, relieving the teacher and developing his own powers at the same time.

It is a fine thing to be nervous if the nervous system is in good health and functioning normally. The world's work is accomplished by the nervous people who have been trained to harness their energies to the task in hand. Study the nervous child you have and treat him according to his needs.
